TO UNTANGLE BIGAMY CASE

First Step is Taken in Court Today
When W. E. Lingenfelter Gets Divorce.

HE REHEARSES OLD STORY

Court Asks Cuckold Husband Why
He Changed His Name to Edward Sloan.

The first step in the untangling of the three cornered bigamy case which was in Indianapolis police court a month ago was taken in the circuit court here this morning when William E. Lingenfelter got a divorce.

Lingenfelter and wife are known to Rushville people as Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sloan. Lingenfelter married Miss Barbara Brown under that name although his true name was Lingenfelter.

He came here about seven years ago after his first wife had eloped with a boarder, George A. Isaacs, when they resided in Indianapolis. Isaacs had been staying at their home but a short time when he alienated the affections of Mrs. Lingenfelter and they departed for some port, Lingenfelter knew not where.

He was disgusted with life. By merest chance he stopped off in Rushville. He told the story of a faithless wife and his consequent troubles to Judge Blair in the circuit court this morning when the divorce came up for hearing.

"But why did you change your name to Sloan?" asked the court of Lingenfelter?

"When I came here I was introduced as Edward Sloan and I just let it pass at that. I decided to keep the name and live down my past life" replied the man who had been cuckolded by Isaacs.

The court did not question him further. Lingenfelter said that he proposed to remarry his second wife and try to live down the past as best he could.

The unusual situation was revealed in a rather peculiar way which was in keeping with the whole circumstance, it will be remembered. Mrs. Lola Isaacs, a charity worker of Columbus, O., went to Indianapolis to get a divorce from her husband, George Isaacs, the man who had eloped with Mrs. Lingenfelter No. 1.

She wanted a divorce from her husband because he had deserted her and in addition she had to get a decree of separation to fall heir to a sum of money. She learned upon arrival there that Isaacs was presumably married to another woman and had several children.

Investigation by court officials revealed that Isaacs had been living with Mrs. Lingenfelter without having divorced his first wife, that Mrs. Lingenfelter had been living with Isaacs without having been separated from her first husband who in turn had married a Rushville girl under an assumed name.

Isaacs was sent to the workhouse and it was agreed Mrs. Isaacs No. 1 and Lingenfelter should each get a divorce and clear up the tangle.

Anderson Armstrong was appointed guardian for Amanda Armstrong by court today, and his bond was fixed at $2,000.

UNCLE OF LOCAL MAN DEAD

Dr. John B. Lytle Passed Away in Shelbyville.

Dr. John B. Lytle, 77 years old, an uncle of Thomas W. Lytle of this city, died yesterday at his home in Shelbyville. Dr. Lytle was one of the prominent men of Shelbyville, coming there in 1906 from Marion where he had been successful in the practice of medicine. He was a member of the State Medical Association many years and had been a member of the I. O. O. F. lodge for forty-five years. T. W. Lytle's father was the only brother of Dr. Lytle. The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at the late residence in Shelbyville.

STRONG GAS FLOW IS CAUSE OF FIRE

Home of Ebert Emmons at Manila
Only Slightly Damaged, Thanks to Neighbors.

LEAVES GAS BURNING LOW

The home of Ebert Emmons of Manila, was threatened yesterday with destruction, when the house caught fire in the kitchen while Mrs. Emmons was up town doing some shopping. Luckily she returned home in time to discover the blaze before it had gained much headway. The work of the volunteer fire company was effective and they soon had the fire extinguished.

Recently two or three new gas wells have been shot in the Manila neighborhood and they have all shown an abundant flow of gas. The residents of the little hamlet who have been burning gas have to be very careful and not leave the gas burning when they go away from home as it is liable to come on strong at any time and set the house on fire. Such was the case yesterday.

The damage will amount to only a few dollars. No insurance was carried. Mr. Emmons was away from home helping pipe the gas wells.

PERRY SCORE CARD RECALLED BY SUIT

F. B. Johnson and Company Demand
Foreclosure of Lien Against Harter and Mavene Bebout.

U. S. P. WAS TO OCCUPY ROOMS

F. B. Johnson and Company have filed suit in the circuit court against Harter and Mavene Bebout, to foreclose a lien, demanding $200. The suit is the outcome of the now famous Perry score card company, which proved to be "hot air." Perry rented the Bebout room in Main street and according to the complaint, the defendants contracted with the plaintiff company to paper and paint the rooms. The work of papering the rooms for Perry came to $146.75, which the Bebout refused to pay. A lien was taken on the property and the suit asks for a foreclosure in order that the plaintiff can collect. It will be remembered that Perry, after a lot of big talk concerning "his" score card suddenly left the city and has not since been seen.

TO BE EXAMINED AS TO HER SANITY

Wife of "Rev." S. J. Winchester is Believed by Authorities to be Insane.

THEIR SON IS UNDER ARREST

"Eva igelist" Admits at Cincinnati
That Police Were Called Once
While he Lived Here.

Mrs. Edna Hubbard Winchester, fourth wife of "Rev." Winchester, was to be examined as to her mental condition today by Commonwealth Attorney R. G. Williams and Humane Officer Al Cherrington at Covington, Ky. Officer Cherrington, after an investigation yesterday, said he was convinced Mrs. Winchester was mentally unbalanced.

"Rev." Winchester and his family lived here in a tent for more than two months last summer, and he conducted a revival.

For the first time since his return to Cincinnati "Rev." Winchester, father of "Colonel" S. Winchester, yesterday answered the question as to what had been done with the funds collected by the "American and International Association For the Prevention of White Slave Traffic," of which he is a solicitor, the Cincinnati Enquirer says. He said that in all about $400 had been contributed to the "cause." Of this he said one half went to the traveling and living expenses of himself and his son, $10 a week went to the secretary-treasurer, and the rest he said is used for incidental expenses, as office supplies.

Commenting upon the report that while he and his wife were living in Rushville, Ind., his neighbors were repeatedly awakened at midnight by the cries of his wife, and that the police had to be called frequently, "Rev." Winchester said that such was the case only once, when his wife became hysterical. Upon the arrival of the authorities, "Rev." Winchester added, all was quiet in the house.

Following closely on the heels of the exposure of the investigation into the work of the "American and International Association for the Prevention of the White Slave Traffic," "Colonel" S. Winchester, son of "Rev." Winchester, and President of the association, was arrested at Terre Haute yesterday afternoon by Detectives LaForge and Vanpool on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

"Colonel" Winchester was sent to jail after a brief examination by the police and two large cases containing letters and literature of the alleged association were retained at police headquarters.

"Colonel" Winchester was arrested while en route to approach a manufacturer for donations for the association. According to the police Winchester admitted having collected about $30 from Terre Haute manufacturers.

Attention to Winchester's operations was called to the police by several of Terre Haute's prominent civic workers.

A large wallet containing a number of membership cards to the society, also were to have been sold in Terre Haute at the cost of $1 each was found in one of the suit cases. A piece of letter paper containing a list of names of Terre Haute manufacturing concerns which composed "Colonel" Winchester's "visiting list" of prominent people whom he intended to solicit for funds.

ARBUCKLE WINS OVER 8 OTHERS

Rushville Man is Elected Grand Warden of Odd Fellows Grand Lodge Today.

496 VOTES ON 2nd BALLOT

Moves up to Next Highest Office Each
Year until he Becomes Grand Master.

J. T. Arbuckle of this city, an attorney and prominent in the affairs of the Odd Fellows lodge, was elected grand warden of the grand lodge of Odd Fellows in Indianapolis today.

Mr. Arbuckle was chosen on the second ballot and received 496 votes, eight more than the number necessary for choice. There was a big crowd from Rushville and Rush county which was present to boost the interests of the Rushville man. The Odd Fellows from here were highly pleased at the victory.

Harry A. Winterrowd of Indianapolis, finished second in the race this year as he did last year when he was a candidate for the same office. Because of the vote he received last year, local Odd Fellows feared that he might defeat Mr. Arbuckle. He was the only candidate which really caused the Rushville man any concern.

Mr. Arbuckle is very grateful to his friends for their assistance in his campaign for the office. He feels that without the support of the loyal Odd Fellows of Rush county he would not have been elected. He himself has been conducting a very strenuous campaign. Ever since he announced himself for the office, he has been working almost night and day to get votes.

Mr. Arbuckle has been very prominent in the affairs of Franklin lodge of the Odd Fellows in this city. It was largely through his untiring efforts that the Odd Fellows remodeled the building in which their home is located and which has been made one of the prettiest buildings in Rushville.

The election to the office of grand warden means more than the mere holding of that office. It is the bottom of the ladder by which Odd Fellows ascend and go through the other offices of the grand lodge. Each year Mr. Arbuckle will move up an office until he becomes grand master and then past grand master.

There were eight other candidates for the office as follows:

H. A. Winterrowd, Indianapolis; G. G. Sherwood, Valparaiso; J. W. Trittipo, Fortville; W. W. Swank, Wingate; R. T. Miller, South Bend; C. J. Robb, Michigan City; John LaFollette, Portland, and Jesse McBeth, Ft. Wayne.

H. W. Carpenter of Petersburg, Ind., becomes grand master for the ensuing year, and W. M. Nauer, of Vernon, deputy grand master, Grand Secretary W. H. Leedy of Indianapolis, and Grand Treasurer W. A. Morris, of Frankfort, were to be re-elected, J. L. Harman, the retiring grand master, becomes grand representative for one year.

The troublesome question of whether the grand lodge shall grant the request of the Rebekahs, the women's division of Odd Fellowship, to make a law requiring all representatives in the grand lodge to become members of the Rebekah order, was deferred until the May session of the grand lodge. It was hoped that the matter would be settled at the present session, and Mrs. Kate I. Nichols, of Elkhart, president of the Rebekahs assembly, was on hand to keep in touch with the situation.

FRAT BANQUET TONIGHT

Phi Delta Kappas Will Celebrate Second Anniversary Here.

The Phi Delta Kappa fraternity will celebrate the second anniversary of the installing of the chapter here, with a banquet tonight at the Seashan House. Between forty-five and fifty members including guests from Knightstown and Shelbyville, will attend. The Smith sisters will give a musical program at the banquet and toasts will be given by the Rev. J. B. Meacham, Pleasant Greenly of Shelbyville, and John Gauchet of Indianapolis. Following the banquet the Princess theater and Greeks will be visited.

CLAIMS KIN WITH LOCAL POSTMASTER

Charles F. Frazee of Pittsburg, Pa.,
Writes Charles A. Frazee to Learn Relationship.

CANDIDATE WITH BILL FLINN

Charles F. Frazee of Pittsburg, Pa., a manufacturer of coffee, is trying to claim relationship with Charles A. Frazee, the local postmaster. This morning Mr. Frazee received a letter from the Pittsburg man in which he asked about the Rushville man's family tree and other things.

It was by a strange coincidence that the Pittsburg man came on to the name of the Rushville postmaster. One day recently he was talking to a traveling salesman who drew a copy of a local newspaper from his pocket and read of Charles A. Frazee's report of the count and weighing of mail here. This caused the Pittsburg man to write.

In addition to being a manufacturer of coffee, C. F. Frazee is a hot third party man. He and the notorious Pittsburg boss, Bill Flinn, were candidates, as Roosevelt men, to the Republican national convention from the thirty-first district. He sent the Rushville postmaster his business cards, political cards and other literature pertaining to himself.

STAMP AGENT GETS $100

S. R. Rowland Goes to Canada With Company's Money.

S. A. Rowland, well known locally for his connection with the co-operative stamp concern, which installed the red trading stamps in this city, is wanted by the company on a grand larceny charge. Rowland is said to have taken one hundred dollars of the company's money in Greensburg and beat it for Canada. Rowland will be remembered when it is recalled that he was suffering with tuberculosis of the throat and usually wore a rag around his neck. It is alleged that he also swindled the company in other ways besides taking the $100.

MEETING PLACE CHANGED.

The place of meeting of the Rushville Teachers Association, which will be held Saturday, has been changed from the court house assembly room to the Graham high school building. The two chief addresses on the program will be given by Prof. William A. Wirt, superintendent of the Gary schools, who has perfected a school plan which is known as the Wirt plan and which has been favorably commented on by the press and school authorities all over the United States. The Manila orchestra will furnish music for the day.

DENOUNCES IT UNSCRIPTURAL

The Rev. A. W. Jamieson Throws
Light on Mormonism at Third of Home Mission Services.

HAD EXPERIENCE WITH THEM

Basis Characteristics of Sect Are
Dishonesty, Immorality and Thievery—History of Origin.

The Rev. Jamieson, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, dissected, denounced as unscriptural and threw the true light on Mormonism in the third of the series of home mission week union services at the First Presbyterian church last evening when he discussed "The Mormon Menace, of Problems of the West." "This is a Christian nation," said the pastor, "but much remains to be done. Not more than half the people counting all denominations, are lined up for Christ."

He told of the wonderful movement westward in the last half century. He said that in 927 towns between 300 and 1,000 population in the State of Washington there are no religious services. In Missouri, he said that there are 10,000 towns of the same population in which there is no religious worship. Is this not a home mission problem? he asked. "In many western communities," he continued, "there are enough people to hold religious worship yet it is not done. There are whole counties and school districts without any sort of religion. There is a section of Oregon as big as Vermont in which there is no religious service of any kind the year around."

"In many western cities the Buddhists are working for converts. Japan is sending $40,000 annually to help the Buddhist missionaries in their work. This is a home mission problem which ought to stimulate the whole church to recognize that we should not only Christianize the heathen but should work in our own country. In one western State there is a town with more saloons than there are churches in the whole State."

The Rev. A. W. Jamieson revealed a remarkable familiarity with Mormonism. He resided in Colorado for a number of years and became acquainted not only with the sect, but with the dealings of Mormons.

"If Mormonism were any part of the church of Jesus Christ," he said, "my tongue would be stilled against it. I have no criticism to make against any creed or sect which accepts Christ as its leader and the Bible as its guide."

Briefly the Rev. Mr. Jamieson described the origin of Mormonism from their standpoint. Joseph Smith of New York had a divine revelation from an angel in 1820 in which he instructed to go to a certain cave where he would find tablets of gold and silver. He acted on these instructions, found the tablets, and with the aid of an angel transcribed into English and thus came into existence the book of Mormonism.

From the standpoint of true historians, according to the minister, the history of the beginning of this sect is decidedly different. A certain minister, while sick, had a dream. He remembered it after he was cured and related the circumstances to friends. They chided him and he wrote that part of the dream which he could remember.

The manuscript was stolen from the publishers. When the book of Mormon was issued, the wife of the minister declared it was the stolen manuscript of her husband, with a very few changes.

Doctors Use This for Eczema

Dr. Evans, Ex-Commissioner of Health, says: "There is almost no relation between skin diseases and the blood." The skin must be cured through the skin. The germs must be washed out, and so salves have long ago been found worthless. The most advanced physicians of this country are now agreed on this, and are prescribing a wash of wintergreen, thymol and other ingredients for eczema and all other skin diseases. This compound is known as D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema.

Dr. Holmes, the well known skin specialist writes: "I am convinced that the D.D.D. Prescription is as much a specific for eczema as quinine for malaria. I have been prescribing the D.D.D. remedy for years." It will take away the itch the instant you apply it.

In fact, we are so sure of what D.D.D. will do for you that we will be glad to let you have a $1 bottle on our guarantee that it will cost you nothing unless you find that it does the work.

PARTY HARMONY THE MAIN CONSIDERATION

Democrats Uncomfortable Over Bryan-Clark Feud.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Entirely out of keeping with his traditional attitude, Mr. Bryan, who, it is now known, can be secretary of state in the new administration and who, unless he changes his mind, will accept that place, displayed a very conciliatory spirit in his recent visit to Washington.

Leading Democrats here are pleased over what appears to be the changed attitude of their former militant leader. They believe it augurs well for party harmony, and if persisted in will remove much of the sting of Mr. Bryan's appointment as the chief adviser in President Wilson's cabinet.

Speaker Clark's attitude toward Mr. Bryan is a source of constant discomfort to those Democrats who are planning for party harmony. Speaker Clark and Mr. Bryan have not met since the convention at Baltimore. Their friends do not conceal a fear that such a meeting may be marked by a scene that will be embarrassing to both men and a source of personal regret to the friends of both. There is quiet determination among some of the Democratic leaders that Mr. Bryan shall not be unduly humiliated. In short, these party leaders, to use a trite saying, intend to have peace if they have to fight for it.

If a war is started on Mr. Bryan because President Elect Wilson has seen fit to recognize him, a movement will be begun without delay to prevent the re-election of Champ Clark as speaker of the house, and the men who make this suggestion declare that they will be able to secure enough votes in the house to execute their threat.

FIND MAINE'S LOST TURRET.

Located With Guns In Place In Havana Harbor.

During the work of removing the cofferdam, built around the hulk of the battleship Maine Captain Pope, in charge of the work, found the forward turret of the ship right side up with the guns in place. It was located forty feet from the place where Major Ferguson found the barbette overturned.

The strangest thing about the discovery of the missing turret is that Major Ferguson, in driving the first piles for the cofferdam, found the top of the turret shorn of all rivets 125 feet from the place it occupied on the ship. When the water and mud were removed and the ship's bottom was revealed the barbette was found near the ship's side, twenty-five feet aft of its position on the vessel, and overturned. This led to the natural belief that the turret with the guns was under the barbette in the mud.

The turret must have been blown forward with the guns. Why it should be thrown forward and sink without overturning, while the barbette was thrown aft and overturned, is a problem for a naval board to explain.

MORE SUBMARINES FOR NAVY

Department Will Also Ask For Requisite Number of Tenders.

Naval authorities will urge upon congress in December the growing necessity for more submarines. Owing to the lack of proper defense at the naval bases of America's insular possessions, the naval officials believe the need for submarines is greater than ever.

They also will strongly recommend a substantial appropriation for tenders, as the submarines are almost helpless without their convoys to serve as mobile bases.

A tender is required for each group of five submarines.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Under orders of Postmaster General Hitchcock simultaneous arrest of 175 manufacturers of alleged "quack" patent medicines were made in seventy-two different cities scattered through twenty-two states. It is the expressed determination of the postal authorities to put an end to the promotion by mail of criminal practices and of the traffic in drugs and instruments on which a ban is placed by the law. Postmaster General Hitchcock said that every case against an alleged violator of the law would be pressed vigorously and every effort made to send the culprit, if convicted, to the penitentiary.

COURT STARTLED BY BRUTAL TALE

Iron Worker Unhoses Himself
On the Stand.

GIVES ADDITIONAL DETAILS

Former Business Agent and Financial Secretary of Indianapolis Local of International Iron Workers' Union Tells Court and Jury a Sensational Story in Connection With the Planning of Dynamiting Jobs.

Indianapolis, Nov. 21.—With such a directness has dynamiting been brought home to the officers of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers that court and jury have been startled by it and the defendants have shown quite as much concern as they manifested when Orville E. McManigal told his tale of destruction on the stand ten days ago. Stories of brutal assaults on non-union men and open threats to injure contractors were told at one of the most interesting sessions that has been devoted to sifting the evidence in the dynamite conspiracy.

The real sensation of the day came when Patrick Dugan, former business agent and financial secretary of the iron workers' local in this city, was called to the stand. The witness told of the planning of dynamiting jobs and other depredations by high officials of the international organization and by members of the Indianapolis local; testified of admission that union money was spent in an unlawful manner, and also told of how H. S. Hockin, at the 1907 international convention of the union held in this city, had made a race for office, his campaign being based on his assertion that his election was deserved as a reward for dynamiting. His testimony dealt with many phases of the alleged lawless operation of a labor union by its officials.

In February, 1907, he said, when the auditing committee was at work, J. J. McNamara brought to it a bankbook concerning an account of G. W. Clark, or some other Clark, in a Cleveland trust company.

"Who is Clark?" Dugan said he asked, and J. J. McNamara replied, "That's me."

"How does it happen you have money deposited under the name of Clark?"

Dugan said McNamara replied that some members of the Erectors' association had brought suit against him, and President Ryan directed him to put the funds under another name, so that they would not be found if judgment was obtained by the plaintiff.

The witness said he was in McNamara's office one day, which he fixed as being in 1907. McNamara, he said, was reading a letter and remarked after a little while: "This is strange. Jerome, the district attorney in New York has had Ryan up and told him he had the goods on him about dynamiting, and he had better cut it out."

There had been an explosion in New York a short time previously, said Dugan.

GRAND JURY PROBE

Coal Situation at South Bend Is Being Investigated.

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 21.—The grand jury has begun an investigation of the coal situation here. Retail dealers say they court an inquiry which, they assert, will show they are not responsible for the high prices here. A special committee of the chamber of commerce may also make an investigation. The grand jury will endeavor to learn whether the retail coal dealers are members of a combine in violation of the state law which declares void all contracts or arrangements whereby prices are controlled on any commodity and provides penalties for violations.

Investigators also are attempting to ascertain the number of loaded coal cars in the railroad yards all over the city. They are also making an effort to obtain information from cities throughout this part of the state, which information they will compile for the benefit of coal consumers. They say this will be material evidence if the grand jury probe is carried as far as is expected.

Plucky Woman Badly Burned.

Muncie, Ind., Nov. 21.—Mrs. Madge Heaton, aged fifty, at the peril of her own life, saved the Cohen building, in the business district, from burning when gasoline, with which she was cleaning a sink, ignited. She was badly burned about the face and chest and arms. She extinguished the blaze and became unconscious.

Didn't See Approaching Train.

Michigan City, Ind., Nov. 21.—While Ernest Levin and Daniel Groch, each six years old, stood at a crossing of the Michigan Central and threw pebbles at a passing freight train, a passenger train from the opposite direction, on a parallel track, struck and instantly killed them.

She Gave Up Early.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 21.—Thelma Roukes, aged seventeen, on the third attempt, committed suicide with poison. She left a note simply saying she "was tired of living."

Helpful Suggestions for Automobile Enthusiasts

To facilitate starting a cold motor on a cold morning and avoid much useless cranking, take a mixture of foam 25 to 30 per cent ether and gasoline and placed in an oil or squire can, with a wire screen to make it airtight, and use this mixture for priming.

In order that the full action of springs may be secured, it is advisable to jack up the body and allow the springs to expand to their fullest. In this position there will be noticed a slight separation between the leaves of the springs, particularly at the ends. Take an oil can and squirt oil into each opening, allowing a small amount of time for the oil to completely run between the leaves before permitting the weight of the body and chassis to again settle upon them. A slight portion of plumbago added to the oil will be an improvement.

A high-tension magneto is a magneto that unaided by external appliances, produces a high-tension or high voltage current.

A low-tension magneto is a magneto that produces a low-tension current, which must be raised to a high voltage by means of induction, outside of the apparatus.

A low-tension magneto is sometimes connected to a multi-cylinder with but one outlet wire by using a single, nonvibrating coil, and a distributor.

The term fixed spark means exactly what it applies, although there are non-adjustable spark systems that automatically advance the spark. In a fixed spark system the spark occurs usually at dead center, and remains there at all times. The relatively greater intensity of the current at high speeds reduces the lag in ignition nearer the limit at high speeds than at low speeds. Of course, a fixed spark system never permits of actual advance, and is used only where the greater efficiency and economy of the adjustable spark or automatic spark is not deemed necessary, or where the skill of the operator is not great enough to warrant the use of an adjustable spark. The terms non-adjustable and fixed as applied to spark systems should not be confused, the one is a negative form that embraces both fixed and automatic advance systems while the latter applies only to system wherein the timing is constant.

In order to get all the pleasure there is to be had from automobilism and also to save expense in the long run, the owner should find out the weight of his car, weights certain sized tires are able to carry, and then equip his car with the largest sized tires possible. The small added cost at the beginning will bring him interests in the form of utmost service mileage and entire satisfaction.

Farmers as Travelers.

The countryman of a generation ago was rarely a traveler. Many of our grandfathers, yes of our fathers, used to boast in their latter days of the number of years it was since they slept away from their own home.

A popular young people's story by a well known author makes the heroine, a young person of 16, tell with some pride of her extended journeyings, the farthest of which was to the shire town some 15 miles away. It is needless to say that this book referred to a period of 40 years ago.

Today, read the village items in almost any country newspaper. See what an incessant flitting there is, particularly among the women. Not many of them are registered at the hotels, but the good old country custom of cousinly visitations is kept up a good deal. There are sons and daughters in adjoining states, and the travel between Lonessomehurst and the boy's Harlem flat is a procession.

The farmer is not as much of a traveler as other men. But you would be surprised at the number of conservative, cautious Eastern farmers, who still use candles because they are cheaper than oil, but who every few years dig the savings bank book out of the little green box, and take a winter's trip to the South, or the West.

It is the townsman today that is the stay at home, more than the countryman. Many are the clerks, merchants, and mechanics in the drive of factory and department store life, who never get away save when Labor Day or some other festival so comes as to give them a double holiday.

The farmer really has more to learn than any other man by travel. Every corn field that he passes has something to tell him about his trade. Every herd of cattle suggests points for criticising his own methods.

In greater New York they are christening sewers with wine. Perhaps no one knew where any water could be obtained.

In a former age Turkey expected to "sweep the earth." It is another instance of an exaggerated ego.

This education may serve you in the future. DON'T OVERLOOK a chance to KNOW THINGS shown by one who knows. COME.

Which Shall It Be?

Do you intend to continue laboring, burning valuable fuel and destroying high priced food with that old worn out cook stove?

You know that old stove eats up a lot of fuel each year.

You know you have trouble in getting it to bake just right, in fact, spoil a batch of bread every once in a while—you know it costs considerable for yearly repairs.

Stop and think and figure.

Wouldn't it pay you to buy a good range—a range with a reputation—

The Great Majestic and Malleable Charcoal Iron Range.

You make no mistake in buying the GREAT MAJESTIC—it's the range with THE REPUTATION—ask your neighbors. Then, too, it's made just right and of the right kind of material—MALLEABLE and CHARCOAL IRON—riveted together practically air tight—lined with pure asbestos board—parts being malleable can't break—has a moveable reservoir and an oven that don't warp—that's why the MAJESTIC uses so little fuel, bakes just right every day in the year (browns bread just right all over without turning,) heats 15 gal. water while breakfast is cooking—properly handled lasts a lifetime, costs practically nothing for repairs.

Don't buy the range you expect to last a lifetime "unsight unseen;" you'll be sure to be disappointed. Come to our store during demonstration week, see the GREAT MAJESTIC—have its many exclusive features explained—find out why the MAJESTIC is 300% stronger than other ranges where most ranges are weakest.

Don't Overlook the Date. This is a Special Invitation to You and Your Friends and Neighbors

SALE TO BEGIN THANKSGIVING

Red Cross Christmas Stickers Will be Offered to Public First Time This Season.

SIMULTANEOUSLY OVER STATE

Agents Will Always Have Large Supply on Hands—Aim in Indiana is 2,000,000.

The sale of Red Cross Christmas Stickers is to begin simultaneously throughout Indiana on Thanksgiving Day. This is the announcement which comes from the state headquarters in Indianapolis and the work of distributing 4,000,000 seals to the several agents already begun. The mark aimed at this season is 2,000,000 seals, and it is the policy to place in agents hands twice as many as will be sold so that there may at all times be a supply on hands.

The campaign is being conducted by the Christmas Stickers Commission of the Indiana Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. This commission is composed of Severance Burdages, James W. Lilly, Dr. Theodore Potter, Mrs. Lew W. Ellingham and Dr. Henry Moore. Headquarters have been opened in room 119, United States Postoffice Building in Indianapolis.

By a new arrangement, ninety per cent. of the total amount raised by the sale of seals in Indiana this season will remain in the state as a war fund for carrying on a vigorous fight against tuberculosis. And it is the policy of the Indiana Association to leave as much of the money as possible in the communities where it is raised.

This is especially true in counties where there are regularly organized Associations for fighting tuberculosis. Such organizations are acting as county agents for the sale seals, having the exclusive right of selling seals in their own counties.

Indiana made the largest gain of any state in the sale of seals last season and the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, which is directing the national campaign, has set a high mark for Indiana to reach this year. It is believed that a number of communities will raise enough money by the sale of the seals to enable them to establish camps for the treatment of tuberculosis patients. Others will use the money for educational purposes.

The seals sell for one cent each, and although they are not good for postage, they carry cheery holiday messages when placed on the backs of envelopes or on packages.

SOME THINGS COST LESS NOW

For Instance There Are Apples and Cranberries For Thanksgiving That Are Cheaper.

UNION SERVICES TO BE HELD

Business Will be Suspended Generally in Observance of Holiday—a Football Game.

With Thanksgiving less than two weeks away, the housewives of Rushville are beginning to want to know what the dinner that is always made a feature of that holiday is going to cost.

It can safely be set down that the cost is not going to be much less, if any, than it was last year. To begin with, the turkey is going to come at about the same figure that he came at twelve months ago. Turkeys are retailing on the foot at fifteen cents a pound. Dressed turkeys range from five to seven cents higher. A dealer stated that dressed turkeys for Thanksgiving would range from twenty to twenty-five cents. He was of the opinion that the average price would be twenty-three cents.

Chickens, dressed, will be about the same as they were last year, and ducks and geese will hold to about the same figures they were quoted at in November, 1911. As these fowls are favored for Thanksgiving, and as nearly every family aims to have some of them, it will be judicious to get on about the same outlay that was made last year.

There are two things that enter into the Thanksgiving dinner that are cheaper this year than they were last—apples and cranberries. Cranberries are plentiful and the best of them are selling for ten cents a quart. Excellent apples can be had for seventy-five cents a bushel. Sweet potatoes are fairly plentiful and not especially high. The price of Irish potatoes everybody knows, as the Murphys enter into the everyday living of nearly every family in the community. Celery is scarce. The early freeze in Michigan almost ruined the crop there. At present about the only first class celery, barring a limited Indiana product, is that which comes from California.

Oranges, California grapes and tropical fruit hold to the standard prices for the season. Nuts show a tendency to become higher. There has been a great increase in the production of nuts the last few years, but the increased production has not kept pace with the increased demand, hence the upward tendency of the nut market.

The indications are for fairly bountiful Thanksgiving spreads in Rushville homes. Business has been good throughout the year, and labor very generally is employed. This means that there is money in practically every home for the extras of the coming feast day. There are the needy poor that are always with us, of course, but they will be looked after by the charity organization which has made it a point for several years to see to it that they have a share in the day's cheer.

In the main, Thanksgiving will be given the same observance in Rushville that it has received for several years. Business will be suspended so far as store, factories, the building trades and common labor are concerned and the people generally will make of it a day of rest and reunions.

The usual Thanksgiving church services will be held. This year it will take place at the United Presbyterian church and the sermon will be delivered by the Rev. C. M. Yocum of the Main Street Christian church. Many cities are doing away with the Thanksgiving union service, but Rushville still retains this custom.

Those of Rushville who enjoy the premier fall sport, a game of football, will have the opportunity of seeing one here on the afternoon of Thanksgiving day when the local independent team will line up against the strong Maxwell-Briscoe team of Newcastle.

SOCIETY NEWS

The Cross Country club met at the home of Miss Anna Stevens yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Claude Cambern entertained with a noon luncheon and card party yesterday afternoon. Covers were laid for twelve and there were three tables at cards. The place cards were of foreign design and make and were very beautiful.

The Juanita club will meet with Mrs. James Gregg at her home in North Harrison street Friday afternoon. Every member is urged to attend as important business is to come before the club.

Miss Lillian J. Barton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Barton of Milroy, and Clyde H. Hunter of Wingate, Ind., son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hunter of Paxton, Ill., were quietly married at the Barton home in Milroy last evening at six o'clock.

Only the immediate family witnessed the ceremony which was performed by the Rev. W. H. Oldham, pastor of the Milroy Christian church. A wedding supper was served and at nine o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Hunter left for New York City on their honeymoon. They will be at home in Wingate after January, first.

Mrs. Hunter is well known by Rushville young people. She was graduated from DePauw University a few years ago and was a member of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. Mr. Hunter is a lumberman of Wingate. He was graduated from Culver military school a few years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hunter of Paxton, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Claude R. Crane of Brookville, were the only guests aside from those living in Milroy. Mrs. Crane is a sister of the bride.

Mrs. B. P. Miller entertained at her home at two-thirty and five o'clock yesterday afternoon, honoring her guests, Miss Norine Rogers of Cincinnati and Mrs. Lock Turner of Terre Haute.

Jess Pugh gave a short but varied and delightful program from three to four. He was among admirers and friends and he made his entertainment very informal and home-like, allowing the guests to make suggestions as to what he should give.

Mr. Pugh read "The Light That Failed" from Kipling with such characteristic earnestness and pathos that there were few dry eyes in the room when he had finished. He sang "My Ain Folk," a Scotch ballad, and sang several other little Scotch airs. He gave several readings to which Rushville people are especially partial. He was very highly complimented by the applause given him.

The home of Mrs. Miller was very tastefully decorated with beautiful specimens of varied colored chrysanthemums. A very elaborate luncheon was served. Mrs. Richard Smith of Indianapolis, formerly Miss Mary Brann of this city, was one of the guests.

Toy, formerly of Baltimore, and George Brown, of Indianapolis, were present and spoke.

THE ROOT OF EVIL

BY THOMAS DIXON

Copyright, 1911, by Thomas Dixon

He went across the square to take a cab at the Brevoort. His mood was buoyant. He was looking out on life once more through rose tinted glasses. At Eighth street he met at right angles the swarming thousands hurrying across town from their work-heavy looking men who tramped with tired step, striking the pavements dully with their nailed shoes, tired, anxious women, frowzy headed little girls, sad eyed boys, half awake—all hurrying, the fear of want and the horror of charity in their silent faces. And yet the sight touched no responsive chord of sympathy in Stuart's heart as it often had. As he drove uptown the avenue flashed with swift, silent automobiles and blooded horses. These uptown crowds through whose rushing streams he passed were all well dressed and carried bundles of candy, flowers and toys.

Stuart felt the contagious enthusiasm of thousands of prosperous men and women whose lives at the moment flowed about and enveloped his own.

What was it that made the difference between the squalid atmosphere below Fourth street and the glowing, flashing, radiant, jeweled world up town? Money! It meant purple and fine linen, delicacies of food and drink, pulsing machines that could make a mile a minute, the mountain and the sea, freedom from care, fear, drudgery and slavery!

After all in this modern passion for money might there not be something deeper than mere greed, perhaps the regenerating power of the spirit pressing man upward? Certainly he could see only the bright side of it tonight.

As his cab swung into Riverside drive from Seventy-second street the sight which greeted him was one of startling splendor. Bivens' yacht lay at anchor in the river just in front of his house. She was festooned with electric lights from the water line to the top of her towering steel masts.

The illumination of the exterior of the Bivens house was remarkable. The stone and iron fence surrounding the block, which had been built at a cost of a hundred thousand dollars, was literally ablaze with lights. The house was illumined from its foundations to the top of each towering minaret with ruby colored lights.

Stuart passed up the grand stairs through a row of gorgeous dunkies and greeted his hostess.

Nan grasped his hand with a smile of joy.

"You are to lead me in to dinner, Jim, at the stroke of 8."

"I'll not forget," Stuart answered.

VERIFY IT

The Proof is in Rushville, Almost at Your Door.

The public statement of a Rushville citizen is in itself strong proof for Rushville people, but confirmation strengthens the evidence.

Here is a Rushville citizen who testified years ago that Doan's Kidney Pills relieved weak kidneys and now states the result was permanent. Can any sufferer from kidney ills ask better proof? You can investigate. The case is right at home.

George Priest, 223 West Third St., Rushville, Ind., says: "I use Doan's Kidney Pills whenever I feel in need of a kidney tonic and they always give highly satisfactory results. I gladly confirm what I said in their praise some years ago. For several years I had kidney trouble which came on by spells. The complaint started with a dull pain just over the kidneys then I became weak and dizzy. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally brought to my attention and were so highly recommended that I got a supply at Johnson & Co's. Drug Store. They proved to be the best medicine of the kind I had ever tried and in a short time restored my kidneys to a normal condition."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

government had no guns for the volunteers. He learned that there were 5,000 old Hall carbines stored away among the junk in one of the national arsenals in New York. He bought these guns (on a credit for a song, about $3 apiece, and shipped them to General Fremont, who was in St. Louis howling for arms. Fremont agreed to pay $22.50 each for the new rifles and closed the deal at once by drawing on the government for enough to enable the young buccannier to pay his three dollar contract price to Uncle Sam in New York and lay aside a snug sum for a rainy day besides.

"When Fremont found that the guns were worthless he advised the government to stop payment on the balance. It was stopped on the ground of fraud. And then the youngster showed the stuff he was made of. Did he crawl and apologize? Not much. He sued the United States government for the full amount and pushed that suit to the supreme court. In the face of the sneers of his enemies he won and took the full amount with interest. He's the king today because he was born a king. His father was a millionaire before him. He's the greatest financial genius of the century."

Bivens paused and a dreamy look came into the black eyes.

"Jim," he continued with slow emphasis, "I'd rather get my fingers on his throat in a death struggle than lead the combined armies of the world to victory."

Stuart was silent.

The soft tones of hidden oriental gongs began to chime the call for dinner. The chimes melted into a beautiful piece of orchestral music which seemed to steal from the sky, so skillfully had the musicians been concealed. Nan suddenly appeared by Stuart's side, and he was given the honor of leading his hostess into the banquet hall before even the king, while the great ones of earth slowly followed.

CHARLES H. HYDE

Former City Chamberlain of New York, Facing the Court.

A CITY BRIBERY CASE ATTRACTS ATTENTION

Former Chamberlain of New York On Trial.

New York, Nov. 21.—To try Charles M. Hyde, former city chamberlain, on a technical charge of demanding and receiving a bribe as a public official, it took just four hours and thirteen minutes actual time to secure a jury in the criminal branch of the supreme court. Hyde himself for the present will be allowed to remain out on bail.

The Zelig gunmen, Lefty Louie, Gyp the Blood, Whitey Lewis and Dago Frank were arraigned to hear a date set for the pronouncement of sentence for the murder of Herman Rosenthal. Justice Goff said he would sentence on Tuesday next. On that date prisoners' counsel will move that the verdict be set aside as against the "weight of evidence, because of errors of law during the trial." A notice of appeal in the case of former Lieutenant Becker, also convicted of the Rosenthal murder, which automatically stays his execution until acted upon by the court of appeals, has been filed by Becker's attorney.

Sam Schepps was liberated in the West Side court this forenoon, and some time this afternoon the rest of the informers in the Rosenthal murder case, Jack Rose, Bridgie Webber and Harry Vallon, will walk out of prison free to go where they wish.

Willie Shapiro, the chauffeur of the gray murder car whose case appeals more to those thoroughly familiar with the whole Rosenthal situation than that of any other associated with the murder, must wait until the district attorney has satisfied himself about some details in the indictment for murder which now holds Shapiro, before the prosecutor moves for the dismissal of the indictment. But the move for dismissal will come very soon and the chunky little chauffeur will then hurry off with his mother "as far away as anybody can get" and with his mother will live in this far away place, for the rest of his life.

PREMATURE

Cabinet Gossip Not Founded on Facts. Says Mr. Wilson.

Hamilton, Bermuda, Nov. 21.—Governor Sir George Bullock and wife visited President Elect Wilson at the Glen Cove cottage and spent half an hour chatting with him. Governor Wilson states that the report that Mr. Bryan practically has been selected for appointment as secretary of state is unfounded. He has made no offers of appointments to anyone yet. The governor added that announcements of cabinet selections would be made known only over his own name.

The Case Against Gibson.

Goshen, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Justice in Orange county is proving itself relentless in linking the chain of evidence against Burton W. Gibson, the lawyer accused of murdering his client, Mrs. Szabo, for her estate. The state's principal witnesses have made out the strongest possible case of circumstantial evidence against the accused.

Ettor Trial Nearing an End.

Salem, Mass., Nov. 21.—Closing arguments to the jury are being heard in the trial of Joseph J. Ettor of the Industrial Workers of the World; Arturo Giovannitti, an Italian Socialist writer, and Joseph Caruso, wool mill worker, charged with the murder of Anna Lopizzo during the textile strike at Lawrence last winter.

Child Scalded to Death.

Petersburg, Ind., Nov. 21.—Orville, eighteen-months-old child of Victor Gooderd and wife, who was scalded by a tub of boiling hot water when it fell off a chair, is dead.

Horses Perish in Fire.

Muncie, Ind., Nov. 21.—Fire caused the death of six horses and a loss of $5,000 in the destruction of the big barn of the G. F. Griffith & Son Lumber company.

CARGOES WERE UNDERWEIGHED

Government's Contention In Suit Against Spreckles.

A DEMAND MADE FOR $119,080

Alleging That Undervalued Duties in Above Sum Are Due From Federal Sugar Company, Suit Has Been Brought in Federal Court, Allegation Also Being Made That Gratuities Were Given Weighers.

New York, Nov. 21.—In connection with a suit brought by the government to recover $119,080.98 in duties, charges that gratuities which amount to bribes were paid by the Federal Sugar company, of which Claus Spreckles is president, to government weighers, have been made by the government attorney. The government claims that cargoes of sugar received at the sugar company's plant between 1902 and 1909 were so frequently underweighed that the above sum in duties is still owing. The summons and complaint were filed in the United States district court, and the papers were served upon Mr. Spreckles at his office.

W. Cleveland Runyon, special assistant to the attorney general, who has charge of the case, gave out this statement: "The present claim against the Federal company is the only sugar duties claim at this port that has not been settled. The American, Arbutus and the National have all settled. In view of the facts found by Collector Loeb and the department of justice and the Federal company's refusal to pay, a suit became inevitable."

Mr. Spreckles denied emphatically that the difference in weight had always been against the government. "So far as we are concerned," he said, "I wish to say just this, that we have done no wrong. We are an honest concern and not in the same catalogue with concerns that used spring scales.

Refused to Pay a Cent.

"When this matter came up and the government said that we owed $119,000 in duties because our sugar was underweighed, I declined to pay a single dollar. Some months afterward Mr. Runyon made a proposition to settle at $116,000 or approximately that sum. I again declared that I would not pay a dollar. Finally they came down to $106,000. Mind you this thing has been going on for years.

"Then just about a year ago they made me the proposition to settle for $91,000, and last month they came and said: 'Well, what will you pay, or will you pay anything?'

"I replied, 'You have had my answer for years. There's no compromise between right and wrong. We either owe you the entire sum you claim, or we don't owe you anything. I say we don't owe you anything.'

Referring to a report that criminal proceedings might be instituted, he said: "Any talk of criminal proceedings at this time can be nothing but an attempt to force us to pay a claim that we deny the justice of."

When Mr. Spreckles was asked about the "tips," he said that it was perfectly true that money had been paid to the government employees. It went to the inspectors rather than the weighers, he said. Mr. Spreckles declared that the "tips" were in no sense bribes, but just such a fee as a man gives his waiter in a restaurant to insure good service. They were known, he said, as "house money" and were paid by every concern that did business with the customs people before Collector Loeb put an end to the system and relieved the companies of an unjust burden.

Blames the Flagman.

Baton Rouge, Nov. 21.—The state railroad commission holds Mark Cunningham, a flagman, responsible for the wreck on the Yazoo & Mississippi valley railroad a week ago, in which fifteen persons were killed. The report says Cunningham failed to go back a sufficient distance to flag an approaching freight after the passenger train's locomotive had become disabled.

No Known Cause For Rash Act.

Linton, Ind., Nov. 21.—Thomas B. Smith, a farmer, committed suicide at his home, five miles southwest of this city by drinking carbolic acid. He was sixty-five years old and was the owner of a large farm. No cause is given for the act. He is survived by a widow and five children.

SEEKING A WAY TO END THE WAR

Armistice Negotiations Now Are In Progress.

MAY MEAN PERMANENT PEACE

Though Both Bulgarians and Turks Are Holding Their Positions at Tchataldja, Commanders Are Trying to Get Together on Some Plan Whereby They May Honorably Cease Shooting at Each Other.

London, Nov. 21.—Pending the outcome of an effort toward arranging an armistice, the Balkan hostilities have been suspended. The allies made the proposition for a conference between a representative of the allies and a representative of the Ottoman forces, and the Turkish government accepted the proposal. Nazim Pasha, the commander-in-chief of the Turkish forces in the field, was appointed to represent his government in the negotiations, and General Savoff, the commander of the Bulgarian armies and the man whose military genius is credited with the victories against the Turks, will represent the allies.

If the two commanders are able to reach an agreement in the matter of an armistice, an opportunity will be afforded for other representatives of all the governments immediately concerned to discuss the terms of a permanent peace. Meanwhile both Bulgarians and Turks hold their positions at Tchataldja.

Conflicting Reports.

Statements of the relations of Austria and Serbia are conflicting. A dispatch from Sofia says that the allies have definitely abandoned the idea of partitioning Albania and that they will assist in establishing Albanian autonomy. If this interpretation of the attitude of the allies is correct, particularly with regard to Serbia, Austria's main ground for contention will have been removed. Dispatches from Flume, however, bring information of Austria's continued preparations for hostilities and thereby seem to indicate a lack of belief on the part of the Buda Pest government in the report that the allies are willing to forego the division of Albania.

According to dispatches from Sofia of later date than the Constantinople advices, all the Turkish reports of Ottoman victories at Tchataldja are officially declared to be untrue. Dispatches from Athens indicate that the temporary armistice at Tchataldja has not affected the Greek advance. Three Greek columns are marching in the direction of Florina and are meeting with Turkish resistance. A dispatch from Belgrade contradicts the earlier report that a large number of Turks had been captured at Monastir. Adrianople is still completely invested, according to reports from Bulgarian sources, which state that Turkish troops attempting to break through the Bulgarian lines were driven back into the city with heavy losses.

MANY LIVES LOST

Death List in Jamaican Storm May Reach One Hundred.

Kingston, Jamaica, Nov. 21.—A storm at one end of the island and a tidal wave at the other end have caused the loss of probably 100 lives. Reports which are just filtering in from Montego bay state that that town was completely wrecked by a cyclone. So far over forty bodies have been taken from the sea and there are many more dead ashore. At Lucca, a small town of 2,000 inhabitants on the north-west coast, ten bodies have been washed up from the sea.

The town of Savanna La Mar, on the southwest coast, is reported to have been struck by a tidal wave. It is said that there has been enormous damage on that end of the island.

And Then Didn't Get the Rabbit.

Danville, Ind., Nov. 21.—Just after shooting a rabbit last Sunday, L. A. Smith was confronted by a game warden. Thinking the warden was alone Smith ordered him off with a flourish of his gun, but when the warden's partner appeared, submitted quietly to arrest. He was fined $39 for hunting on Sunday, $34 for hunting without a license and $10 for drawing a gun on the deputy. The rabbit Smith killed was left behind.

Caught on the Track.

Indianapolis, Nov. 21.—Joseph Sheets, sixty-eight years old, a veteran of the civil war, was instantly killed when he was struck by an inbound train on the Big Four line, at the junction of the Big Four and Belt tracks.

He Pleads Self-Defense.

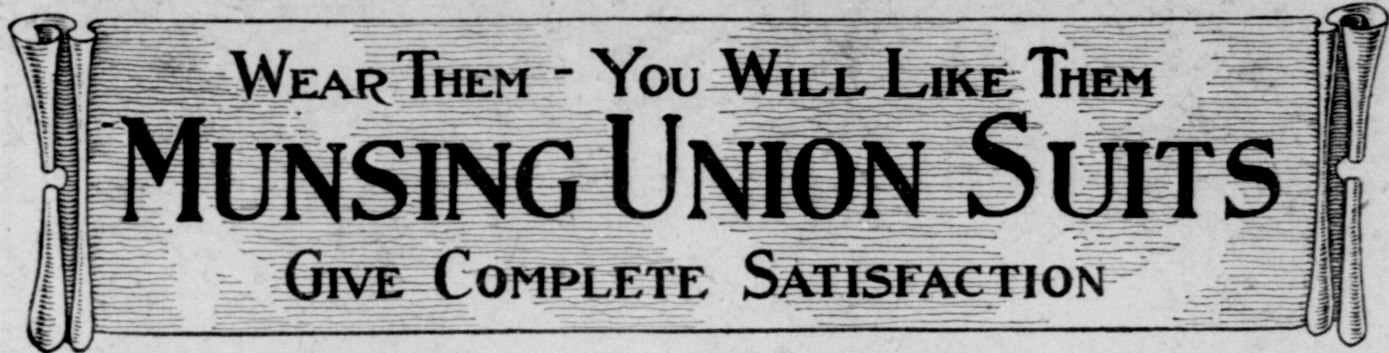

Richmond, Ind., Nov. 21.—Samuel Whalen, white, is on trial in the Wayne circuit court charged with the murder of Arthur Saunders, colored. Self-defense is his plea. Saunders was stabbed to death on the night of Sept. 7.

Carpenter Fell From Roof.

Kendallville, Ind., Nov. 21.—Alonzo Latson, aged seventy, a carpenter, was killed by a fall from the roof of a barn.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bryan have gone to their winter home at Miami, Fla.

WINTER SIGNS CONTRADICTORY

Fur-Bearing Animals Have Heavy Coat But Corn Husks Are Very Light.

IT WILL OR IT WILL NOT

According to signs in the animal world, the present winter is to be an unusual cold one. The omens on which this prediction is placed are found in the condition of the coats of fur-bearing animals. While it is yet early in the season all indications point to a winter as severe as last year. The fur on the pelts is very thick and close knit such as nature always provides before going into a severe cold season.

In contrast to this prediction the farmers say that the corn husks are unusually light this year and that the huge ears are bursting; the husks and protruding therefrom for several inches. All this, they say, promises a very mild and open winter. So there you are, and you can take your choice. It is predicted, however, that it will be safe to keep coal in the bin.

Frankly, we'd hate to be in the "near shoe" business! We'd hate to carry lines of shoes that sell only because the price is small. Somehow, we feel that it would be about as creditable to circulate bad money as to sell bad shoes. Perhaps the selling of poor shoes will stop, sometime. It ought to stop.

was a criminal and a drunkard and that his wife was a fortune teller. They were persecuted in New York and fled to Ohio. Rigdon, Smith's right hand man, prophesied the coming of the Mormon prophet in Ohio, the pastor said, and lo, and behold, Smith did appear.

According to history, the Rev. Mr. Jamieson said, they were driven from Ohio, because of their teachings and their dishonesty in their dealings in operating a bank. They went to Missouri, were routed by Christian people and finally settled in Illinois where they remained a number of years before settling in Utah which they now completely dominate.

"There are three things which are characteristic of Mormons," continued the Rev. Mr. Jamieson. "They are dishonesty, immorality and thievery. It was because of their immorality that Joseph Smith had the divine revelation about polygamy."

The Rev. Mr. Jamieson told of his experiences with Mormons when he lived near a band in Colorado. He said they stole deliberately and intentionally anything that they saw fit to take. They always bowed to the law, he said, but at the same time others were carrying on their nefarious work. Some of them might be sent to prison for theft, but others would continue to steal. They contended all things belonged to God, he said, and that they, His saints, had as much right to them as any one.

The Rev. Mr. Jamieson showed that they express faith in God but that further perusal of their catechism revealed that they have many Gods. They hold, he proved by reading from their writings, that Adam was sent to earth in a celestial body with one of his wives and that they are still begetting children. He pointed out that their faith taught they would all be Gods some day.

"They do not recognize the divinity of Christ and they disregard the atonement of Christ all together," said the pastor. "They say they believe the Bible and the book of Mormonism are both the works of God yet they declare that their revelations are above God's word. They pay no attention to the Bible except where they can use it to catch unsuspecting people."

"They say they believe in blood atonement; so do we. But do they teach it? The only way a Mormon can get back into the faith after he has once been unfaithful in the eyes of their priests, he must shed his own blood. He who apostatizes must spill his own blood. Fathers have been known to help assassinate their own sons because the latter wanted to escape Mormonism."

"They dominate Utah and they infest nearly every western State. Their workers are not volunteers. They are appointed by the priests and they generally go into unchurched territory where they will have no opposition. They always call at a home and say they travel as Jesus did without purse or means of living, yet the liveryman told me in my home in Colorado once, after two Mormons had been there, that they made expenses playing craps at night."

The Rev. Mr. Jamieson read a statement of Brigham Young in which he boldly bragged of the abilities of Mormons to cheat, gamble, steal and be immoral.

"I believe congress," he continued, "should pass a law which would compel decency in living among Mormons. A man with ten wives is honored, and the wife of a man who has only one is taken away from him and given to the one with ten. Their revelations teach them that the man is called from the grave on resurrection day and that he in turn calls his wife. This is held over the wife's head as a threat when she does not obey her husband."

The Rev. Mr. Jamieson told of the interdenominational organization of Gospel missions which is doing all in its power to combat Mormonism. The workers travel in wagons as Mormons do.

The closing service of the week will be held at the St. Paul M. E. church tonight and the sermon on the topic, "Country's Debt to Christ" will be delivered by the Rev. C. M. Vocum of the Christian church.

EVANGELIST AND SINGER PRAISED

Cambridge, Ohio, Newspaper Tells of Tabernacle Meeting Being Conducted by F. B. Stearns.

AUTOMOBILE TRIPS MADE

The daily Jeffersonian of Cambridge, Ohio gives a vivid account of the tabernacle meeting which is being conducted by Rev. F. B. Stearns of this city, at Seneca, O., a town located near Cambridge. The article in the paper deals with one of the Rev. F. B. Stearns' best sermons, which is on the subject, "The Danger of Losing Christ."

The newspaper article praises R. N. Rowe, the evangelist singer who is with the local evangelist. It says: "Prof. Rowe is a young man of beautiful character and winsome ways. He is consecrated to his work, and his voice is laden with the pathos of love. The choir is developing under his guidance."

The Rev. Mr. Stearns is using much the same plan as that tried here. An automobile trip to surrounding villages and towns was taken to arouse people in the interest of the tabernacle meeting.

GRAND JURY TO PROBE WRECK

Marion County Body Will Take up Investigation of C. H. & D. Collision Monday.

DEATH TOLL IS RAISED TO 16

Fred W. Hutcheson, Fireman on The Freight Engine Dies in Indianapolis—Was Scalded.

Prosecutor Frank Baker announced today that the Marion county grand jury would take up the investigation of the C. H. & D. wreck in Irvington, which was responsible for the death of sixteen persons, next Monday morning, according to the Indianapolis News. Coroner Durham has prepared a list of witnesses whom the grand jury will summon, including those who have testified before him, and others.

Fred W. Hutcheson, twenty-six years old, of Madison, Ky., freight engine fireman, seriously injured a week ago, in the C. H. & D. wreck in Indianapolis, died last night at the Deaconess hospital in Indianapolis.

Hutcheson's death brings the total number of victims to sixteen. Fifteen were either killed or died at the hospital the day of the wreck. Little hope was entertained by physicians at the hospital for Hutcheson's recovery. He was scalded about the face, arms and body.

A few minutes after the passenger train hit the freight train head-on, Hutcheson was found by other employees. He was standing in front of the engine boiler when the collision came. He was thrown between some wreckage, and before he could be taken out his face and arms were scalded by steam. He was carried to a nearby house, where he lay for some time before he was taken to the hospital.

PREPARING FOR TURKEY DAY GAME

Locals Will Not Play Sunday But Will Practice For Maxwells of Newcastle.

CROWD OF ROOTERS COMING

Because the Independent foot ball team expects a hard game Thanksgiving with the Maxwell team and desires to be in the best of condition no game will be played Sunday. The team will however receive a stiff work out in preparation for the big game of the season. The Maxwell team is considered one of the best in the State and the locals know they will have a hard battle. The game will probably be witnessed by one of the largest crowds of the season as the fans are assured of a good game. The Maxwell team will be accompanied here by a large crowd of rooters.

The Rushville team has so far found little opposition but on paper the Maxwells appear to be their equal. The locals will be in their class Thanksgiving and will have to go the limit. For this reason Capt. Brann desires all the members to come out for practice Sunday.

LIBERTY TO MEET LOCALS

First Basket Ball Game of Season Friday Night.

The team has been practicing for several weeks and is going at a fast clip. Little is known as to the strength of the Liberty team but from past performances the local team will have to go the limit to win. The Independent team will take on all Independent team in this section and some fast games are expected. The game tomorrow night will be called at 8 o'clock.

TO UNTANGLE BIGAMY CASE

First Step is Taken in Court Today
When W. E. Lingenfelter Gets Divorce.

HE REHEARSES OLD STORY

Court Asks Cuckold Husband Why
He Changed His Name to Edward Sloan.

The first step in the untangling of the three cornered bigamy case which was in Indianapolis police court a month ago was taken in the circuit court here this morning when William E. Lingenfelter got a divorce.

Lingenfelter and wife are known to Rushville people as Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sloan. Lingenfelter married Miss Barbara Brown under that name although his true name was Lingenfelter.

He came here about seven years ago after his first wife had eloped with a boarder, George A. Isaacs, when they resided in Indianapolis. Isaacs had been staying at their home but a short time when he alienated the affections of Mrs. Lingenfelter and they departed for some port, Lingenfelter knew not where.

He was disgusted with life. By merest chance he stopped off in Rushville. He told the story of a faithless wife and his consequent troubles to Judge Blair in the circuit court this morning when the divorce came up for hearing.

"But why did you change your name to Sloan?" asked the court of Lingenfelter?

"When I came here I was introduced as Edward Sloan and I just let it pass at that. I decided to keep the name and live down my past life" replied the man who had been cuckolded by Isaacs.

The court did not question him further. Lingenfelter said that he proposed to remarry his second wife and try to live down the past as best he could.

The unusual situation was revealed in a rather peculiar way which was in keeping with the whole circumstance. It will be remembered. Mrs. Lola Isaacs, a charity worker of Columbus, O., went to Indianapolis to get a divorce from her husband, George Isaacs, the man who had eloped with Mrs. Lingenfelter No. 1.

She wanted a divorce from her husband because he had deserted her and in addition she had to get a decree of separation to fall heir to a sum of money. She learned upon arrival there that Isaacs was presumably married to another woman and had several children.

Investigation by court officials revealed that Isaacs had been living with Mrs. Lingenfelter without having divorced his first wife, that Mrs. Lingenfelter had been living with Isaacs without having been separated from her first husband who in turn had married a Rushville girl under an assumed name.

Isaacs was sent to the workhouse and it was agreed Mrs. Isaacs No. 1 and Lingenfelter should each get a divorce and clear up the tangle.

Anderson Armstrong was appointed guardian for Amanda Armstrong by court today, and his bond was fixed at $2,000.

He was a member of the State Medical Association many years and had been a member of the I. O. O. F. lodge for forty-five years. T. W. Lytle's father was the only brother of Dr. Lytle. The funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at the late residence in Shelbyville.

STRONG GAS FLOW IS CAUSE OF FIRE

Home of Ebert Emmons at Manila
Only Slightly Damaged, Thanks
to Neighbors.

LEAVES GAS BURNING LOW

The home of Ebert Emmons of Manila, was threatened yesterday with destruction, when the house caught fire in the kitchen while Mrs. Emmons was up town doing some shopping. Luckily she returned home in time to discover the blaze before it had gained much headway. The work of the volunteer fire company was effective and they soon had the fire extinguished.

Recently two or three new gas wells have been shot in the Manila neighborhood and they have all shown an abundant flow of gas. The residents of the little hamlet who have been burning gas have to be very careful and not leave the gas burning when they go away from home as it is liable to come on strong at any time and set the house on fire. Such was the case yesterday.

The damage will amount to only a few dollars. No insurance was carried. Mr. Emmons was away from home helping pipe the gas wells.

PERRY SCORE CARD RECALLED BY SUIT

F. B. Johnson and Company Demand
Foreclosure of Lien Against Harter and Mavene Bebout.

U. S. P. WAS TO OCCUPY ROOMS

F. B. Johnson and Company have filed suit in the circuit court against Harter and Mavene Bebout, to foreclose a lien, demanding $200. The suit is the outcome of the now famous Perry score card company, which proved to be "hot air." Perry rented the Bebout room in Main street and according to the complaint, the defendants contracted with the plaintiff company to paper and paint the rooms. The work of papering the rooms for Perry came to $146.75, which the Bebout refused to pay. A lien was taken on the property and the suit asks for a foreclosure in order that the plaintiff can collect. It will be remembered that Perry, after a lot of big talk concerning "his" score card suddenly left the city and has not since been seen.

TO BE EXAMINED AS TO HER SANITY

Wife of "Rev." S. J. Winchester Is Believed by Authorities to be Insane.

THEIR SON IS UNDER ARREST

"Evangelist" Admits at Cincinnati
That Police Were Called Once
While he Lived Here.

Mrs. Edna Hubbard Winchester, fourth wife of "Rev." Winchester, was to be examined as to her mental condition today by Commonwealth Attorney R. G. Williams and Humane Officer Al Cherrington at Covington, Ky. Officer Cherrington, after an investigation yesterday, said he was convinced Mrs. Winchester was mentally unbalanced.

"Rev." Winchester and his family lived here in a tent for more than two months last summer, and he conducted a revival.

For the first time since his return to Cincinnati "Rev." Winchester, father of "Colonel" S. Winchester, yesterday answered the question as to what had been done with the funds collected by the "American and International Association For the Prevention of White Slave Traffic," of which he is a solicitor, the Cincinnati Enquirer says. He said that in all about $400 had been contributed to the "cause." Of this he said one half went to the traveling and living expenses of himself and his son, $10 a week went to the secretary-treasurer, and the rest he said is used for incidental expenses, as office supplies.

Commenting upon the report that while he and his wife were living in Rushville, Ind., his neighbors were repeatedly awakened at midnight by the cries of his wife, and that the police had to be called frequently, "Rev." Winchester said that such was the case only once, when his wife became hysterical. Upon the arrival of the authorities, "Rev." Winchester added, all was quiet in the house.

Following closely on the heels of the exposure of the investigation into the work of the "American and International Association for the Prevention of the White Slave Traffic," "Colonel" S. Winchester, son of "Rev." Winchester, and President of the association, was arrested at Terre Haute yesterday afternoon by Detectives LaForge and Vanpool on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

"Colonel" Winchester was sent to jail after a brief examination by the police and two large cases containing letters and literature of the alleged association were retained at police headquarters.

"Colonel" Winchester was arrested while en route to appear as a manufacturer for donations for the association. According to the police Winchester admitted having collected about $30 from Terre Haute manufacturers.

Attention to Winchester's operations was called to the police by several of Terre Haute's prominent civic workers.

A large wallet containing a number of membership cards to the society, also were to have been sold in Terre Haute at the cost of $1 each was found in one of the suit cases. A piece of letter paper containing a list of names of Terre Haute manufacturing concerns which composed "Colonel" Winchester's "visiting list" of prominent people whom he intended to solicit for funds.

ARBUCKLE WINS OVER 8 OTHERS

Rushville Man is Elected Grand Warden of Odd Fellows. Grand Lodge Today.

496 VOTES ON 2nd BALLOT

Moves up to Next Highest Office Each
Year Until he Becomes Grand Master.

J. T. Arbuckle of this city, an attorney and prominent in the affairs of the Odd Fellows lodge, was elected grand warden of the grand lodge of Odd Fellows in Indianapolis today.

Mr. Arbuckle was chosen on the second ballot and received 496 votes, eight more than the number necessary for choice. There was a big crowd from Rushville and Rush county which was present to boost the interests of the Rushville man. The Odd Fellows from here were highly pleased at the victory.

Harry A. Winterrowd of Indianapolis, finished second in the race this year as he did last year when he was a candidate for the same office. Because of the vote he received last year, local Odd Fellows feared that he might defeat Mr. Arbuckle. He was the only candidate which really caused the Rushville man any concern.

Mr. Arbuckle is very grateful to his friends for their assistance in his campaign for the office. He feels that without the support of the loyal Odd Fellows of Rush county he would not have been elected. He himself has been conducting a very strenuous campaign. Ever since he announced himself for the office, he has been working almost night and day to get votes.

Mr. Arbuckle has been very prominent in the affairs of Franklin lodge of the Odd Fellows in this city. It was largely through his untiring efforts that the Odd Fellows remodeled the building in which their home is located and which has been made one of the prettiest buildings in Rushville.

The election to the office of grand warden means more than the mere holding of that office. It is the bottom of the ladder by which Odd Fellows ascend and go through the other offices of the grand lodge. Each year Mr. Arbuckle will move up an office until he becomes grand master and then past grand master.

There were eight other candidates for the office as follows:

H. A. Winterrowd, Indianapolis; G. G. Sherwood, Valparaiso; J. W. Trittip, Fortville; W. W. Swank, Wingate; R. T. Miller, South Bend; C. J. Robb, Michigan City; John LaFollette, Portland, and Jesse McBeth, Ft. Wayne.

H. W. Carpenter of Petersburg, Ind., becomes grand master for the ensuing year, and W. M. Nauer, of Vernon, deputy grand master, Grand Secretary W. H. Leedy of Indianapolis, and Grand Treasurer W. A. Morris, of Frankfort, were to be re-elected. J. L. Harman, the retiring grand master, becomes grand representative for one year.

The troublesome question of whether the grand lodge shall grant the request of the Rebekahs, the women's division of Odd Fellowship, to make a law requiring all representatives in the grand lodge to become members of the Rebekah order, was deferred until the May session of the grand lodge. It was hoped that the matter would be settled at the present session, and Mrs. Kate I. Nichols, of Elkhart, president of the Rebekahs assembly, was on hand to keep in touch with the situation.

FRAT BANQUET TONIGHT

Phi Delta Kappas Will Celebrate Second Anniversary Here.

The Phi Delta Kappa fraternity will celebrate the second anniversary of the installing of the chapter here, with a banquet tonight at the Seacrest House. J. B. Mencham, Pleasant Greenly of Shelbyville, and John Gauchet of Indianapolis. Following the banquet the Princess theater and Greeks will be visited.

CLAIMS KIN WITH LOCAL POSTMASTER

Charles F. Frazee of Pittsburg, Pa.,
Writes Charles A. Frazee to Learn Relationship.

CANDIDATE WITH BILL FLINN

Charles F. Frazee of Pittsburg, Pa., a manufacturer of coffee, is trying to claim relationship with Charles A. Frazee, the local postmaster. This morning Mr. Frazee received a letter from the Pittsburg man in which he asked about the Rushville man's family tree and other things.

It was by a strange coincidence that the Pittsburg man came on to the name of the Rushville postmaster. One day recently he was talking to a traveling salesman who drew a copy of a local newspaper from his pocket and read of Charles A. Frazee's report of the count and weighing of mail here. This caused the Pittsburg man to write.

In addition to being a manufacturer of coffee, C. F. Frazee is a hot third party man. He and the notorious Pittsburg boss, Bill Flinn, were candidates, as Roosevelt men, to the Republican national convention from the thirty-first district. He sent the Rushville postmaster his business cards, political cards and other literature pertaining to himself.

STAMP AGENT GETS $100

S. R. Rowland Goes to Canada With Company's Money.

S. A. Rowland, well known locally for his connection with the co-operative stamp concern, which installed the red trading stamps in this city, is wanted by the company on a grand larceny charge. Rowland is said to have taken one hundred dollars of the company's money in Greensburg and beat it for Canada. Rowland will be remembered when it is recalled that he was suffering with tuberculosis of the throat and usually wore a rag around his neck. It is alleged that he also swindled the company in other ways besides taking the $100.

MEETING PLACE CHANGED.

The place of meeting of the Rushville Teachers Association, which will be held Saturday, has been changed from the court house assembly room to the Graham high school building. The two chief addresses on the program will be given by Prof. William A. Wirt, superintendent of the Gary schools, who has perfected a school plan which is known as the Wirt plan and which has been favorably commented on by the press and school authorities all over the United States. The Manila orchestra will furnish music for the day.

DE NOUNCES IT UNSCRIPTURAL

The Rev. A. W. Jamieson Throws
Light on Mormonism at Third
of Home Mission Services.

HAD EXPERIENCE WITH THEM

Basis Characteristics of Sect Are
Dishonesty, Immorality and Thievery—History of Origin.

The Rev. Jamieson, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, dissected, denounced as unscriptural and threw the true light on Mormonism in the third of the series of home mission week union services at the First Presbyterian church last evening when he discussed "The Mormon Menace, of Problems of the West." "This is a Christian nation," said the pastor, "but much remains to be done. Not more than half the people counting all denominations, are lined up for Christ."

He told of the wonderful movement westward in the last half century. He said that in 927 towns between 300 and 1,000 population in the State of Washington there are no religious services. In Missouri, he said that there are 10,000 towns of the same population in which there is no religious worship. Is this not a home mission problem? he asked. "In many western communities," he continued, "there are enough people to hold religious worship yet it is not done. There are whole counties and school districts without any sort of religion. There is a section of Oregon as big as Vermont in which there is no religious service of any kind the year around."

"In many western cities the Buddhists are working for converts. Japan is sending $40,000 annually to help the Buddhist missionaries in their work. This is a home mission problem which ought to stimulate the whole church to recognize that we should not only Christianize the heathen but should work in our own country. In one western State there is a town with more saloons than there are churches in the whole State."

The Rev. A. W. Jamieson revealed a remarkable familiarity with Mormonism. He resided in Colorado for a number of years and became acquainted not only with the sect, but with the dealings of Mormons.

"If Mormonism were any part of the church of Jesus Christ," he said, "my tongue would be stilled against it. I have no criticism to make against any creed or sect which accepts Christ as its leader and the Bible as its guide."

Briefly the Rev. Mr. Jamieson described the origin of Mormonism from their standpoint. Joseph Smith of New York had a divine revelation from an angel in 1820 in which he instructed to go to a certain cave where he would find tablets of gold and silver. He acted on these instructions, found the tablets, and with the aid of an angel transcribed into English and thus came into existence the book of Mormonism.

From the standpoint of true historians, according to the minister, the history of the beginning of this sect is decidedly different. A certain minister, while sick, had a dream. He remembered it after he was cured and related the circumstances to friends. They chided him and he wrote that part of the dream which he could remember.

The manuscript was stolen from the publishers. When the book of Mormon was issued, the wife of the minister declared it was the stolen manuscript of her husband, with a very few changes.

Doctors Use This for Eczema

Dr. Evans, Ex-Commissioner of Health, says: "There is almost no relation between skin diseases and the blood." The skin must be cured through the skin. The germs must be washed out, and so salves have long ago been found worthless. The most advanced physicians of this country are now agreed on this, and are prescribing a wash of wintergreen, thymol and other ingredients for eczema and all other skin diseases. This compound is known as D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema.

Dr. Holmes, the well known skin specialist writes: "I am convinced that the D.D.D. Prescription is as much a specific for eczema as quinine for malaria. I have been prescribing the D.D.D. remedy for years." It will take away the itch the instant you apply it.

MRS. HETTY GREEN

Richest Woman in World Celebrates 78th Birthday.

New York, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Hetty Green was seventy-eight years old yesterday. But no one down in her offices at 111 Broadway made any fuss about it, least of all Mrs. Green herself. She said she did not believe birthdays were made for anything better than for attending strictly to business. And that's the rule the richest woman in the world has followed for a half century.

PARTY HARMONY THE MAIN CONSIDERATION

Democrats Uncomfortable Over Bryan-Clark Feud.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Entirely out of keeping with his traditional attitude, Mr. Bryan, who, it is now known, can be secretary of state in the new administration and who, unless he changes his mind, will accept that place, displayed a very conciliatory spirit in his recent visit to Washington.

Leading Democrats here are pleased over what appears to be the changed attitude of their former militant leader. They believe it augurs well for party harmony, and if persisted in will remove much of the sting of Mr. Bryan's appointment as the chief adviser in President Wilson's cabinet.

Speaker Clark's attitude toward Mr. Bryan is a source of constant discomfort to those Democrats who are planning for party harmony. Speaker Clark and Mr. Bryan have not met since the convention at Baltimore. Their friends do not conceal a fear that such a meeting may be marked by a scene that will be embarrassing to both men and a source of personal regret to the friends of both. There is quiet determination among some of the Democratic leaders that Mr. Bryan shall not be unduly humiliated. In short, these party leaders, to use a trite saying, intend to have peace if they have to fight for it.

If a war is started on Mr. Bryan because President Elect Wilson has seen fit to recognize him, a movement will be begun without delay to prevent the re-election of Champ Clark as speaker of the house, and the men who make this suggestion declare that they will be able to secure enough votes in the house to execute their threat.

Thompson's Appointment Made. Washington, Nov. 21.—Carmel Thompson has been appointed treasurer of the United States by President Taft, to succeed Lee McClung, who resigned recently.

Mrs. Emma Maier, 627 N. 7th St., Springfield, Ill., says her kidney trouble resulted from an operation: "From then until I used Foley Kidney Pills I did not know what a well day was. Then my backache left me, that tired dragged down feeling was gone, I slept soundly and awoke refreshed. I had no more headache or dizzy spells." Safe and sure. Try them.

FIND MAINE'S LOST TURRET.

Located With Guns In Place In Havana Harbor.

During the work of removing the cofferdam, built around the hulk of the battleship Maine, Captain Pope, in charge of the work, found the forward turret of the ship right side up with the guns in place. It was located forty feet from the place where Major Ferguson found the barbette overturned.

The strangest thing about the discovery of the missing turret is that Major Ferguson, in driving the first piles for the cofferdam, found the top of the turret shorn of all rivets 125 feet from the place it occupied on the ship. When the water and mud were removed and the ship's bottom was revealed the barbette was found near the ship's side, twenty-five feet aft of its position on the vessel, and overturned. This led to the natural belief that the turret with the guns was under the barbette in the mud.

The turret must have been blown forward with the guns. Why it should be thrown forward and sink without overturning, while the barbette was thrown aft and overturned, is a problem for a naval board to explain.

MORE SUBMARINES FOR NAVY

Department Will Also Ask For Requisite Number of Tenders.

Naval authorities will urge upon congress in December the growing necessity for more submarines. Owing to the lack of proper defense at the naval bases of America's insular possessions, the naval officials believe the need for submarines is greater than ever.

They also will strongly recommend a substantial appropriation for tenders, as the submarines are almost helpless without their convoys to serve as mobile bases.

A tender is required for each group of five submarines.

Mr. Hiram Steele, 628 N. 6th St., Terre Haute, Ind., writes: "I came down with a severe case of Kidney trouble. I had to get up too often at night, there was pain and much sediment, puffs under my eyes, back pained terribly, and I was dizzy. Foley Kidney Pills cured me quickly, and I feel 100 per-cent better."

POSTOFFICE USES OFFICIAL DRAGNET

Traffic In Unlawful Drugs
Under the Ban.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Under orders of Postmaster General Hitchcock simultaneous arrest of 175 manufacturers of alleged "quack" patent medicines were made in seventy-two different cities scattered through twenty-two states. The arrests are the result of months of investigation by postoffice inspectors and are aimed at firms which manufacture "medicinal preparations" injurious to the health, and are using the mails.

It is the expressed determination of the postal authorities to put an end to the promotion by mail of criminal practices and of the traffic in drugs and instruments on which a ban is placed by the law. Postmaster General Hitchcock said that every case against an alleged violator of the law would be pressed vigorously and every effort made to send the culprit, if convicted, to the penitentiary.

COURT STARTLED BY BRUTAL TALE

Iron Worker Unhossoms Himself
On the Stand.

GIVES ADDITIONAL DETAILS

Former Business Agent and Financial Secretary of Indianapolis Local of International Iron Workers' Union Tells Court and Jury a Sensational Story in Connection With the Planning of Dynamiting Jobs.

Indianapolis, Nov. 21.—With such a directness has dynamiting been brought home to the officers of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers that court and jury have been startled by it and the defendants have shown quite as much concern as they manifested when Orlie E. McNamara told his tale of destruction on the stand ten days ago. Stories of brutal assaults on non-union men and open threats to injure contractors were told at one of the most interesting sessions that has been devoted to sifting the evidence in the dynamite conspiracy.

The real sensation of the day came when Patrick Dugan, former business agent and financial secretary of the iron workers' local in this city, was called to the stand. The witness told of the planning of dynamiting jobs and other depredations by high officials of the international organization and by members of the Indianapolis local; testified of admission that union money was spent in an unlawful manner, and also told of how H. S. Hockin, at the 1907 international convention of the union held in this city, had made a race for office, his campaign being based on his assertion that his election was deserved as a reward for dynamiting. His testimony dealt with many phases of the alleged lawless operation of a labor union by its officials.

In February, 1907, he said, when the auditing committee was at work, J. J. McNamara brought to it a handbook concerning an account of G. W. Clark, or some other Clark, in a Cleveland trust company.

"Who is Clark?" Dugan said he asked, and J. J. McNamara replied, "That's me."

"How does it happen you have money deposited under the name of Clark?"

Dugan said McNamara replied that some members of the Erectors' association had brought suit against him, and President Ryan directed him to put the funds under another name, so that they would not be found if judgment was obtained by the plaintiff.

The witness said he was in McNamara's office one day, which he fixed as being in 1907. McNamara, he said, was reading a letter and remarked after a little while: "This is strange. Jerome, the district attorney in New York has had Ryan up and told him he had the goods on him about dynamiting, and he had better cut it out."

There had been an explosion in New York a short time previously, said Dugan.

GRAND JURY PROBE

Coal Situation at South Bend Is Being Investigated.

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 21.—The grand jury has begun an investigation of the coal situation here. Retail dealers say they court an inquiry which, they assert, will show they are not responsible for the high prices here. A special committee of the chamber of commerce may also make an investigation. The grand jury will endeavor to learn whether the retail coal dealers are members of a combine in violation of the state law which declares void all contracts or arrangements whereby prices are controlled on any commodity and provides penalties for violations.

Investigators also are attempting to ascertain the number of loaded coal cars in the railroad yards all over the city. They are also making an effort to obtain information from cities throughout this part of the state, which information they will compile for the benefit of coal consumers. They say this will be material evidence if the grand jury probe is carried as far as is expected.

Helpful Suggestions for Automobile Enthusiasts

To facilitate starting a cold motor on a cold morning and avoid much useless cranking, take a mixture of foam 25 to 30 per cent ether and gasoline and placed in an oil or squire can, with a wire screen to make it airtight, and use this mixture for priming.

In order that the full action of springs may be secured, it is advisable to jack up the body and allow the springs to expand to their fullest. In this position there will be noticed a slight separation between the leaves of the springs, particularly at the ends. Take an oil can and squirt oil into each opening, allowing a small amount of time for the oil to completely run between the leaves before permitting the weight of the body and chassis to again settle upon them. A slight portion of plumbago added to the oil will be an improvement.

A high-tensioned magneto is a magneto that unaided by external appliances, produces a high-tension or high voltage current.

A low-tension magneto is a magneto that produces a low-tension current, which must be raised to a high voltage by means of induction outside of the apparatus.

A low-tension magneto is sometimes connected to a multi-cylinder with but one outlet wire by using a single, nonvibrating coil, and a distributor.

The term fixed spark means exactly what it applies, although there are non-adjustable spark systems that automatically advance the spark. In a fixed spark system the spark occurs usually at dead center, and remains there at all times. The relatively greater intensity of the current at high speeds reduces the lag in ignition nearer the limit at high speeds than at low speeds. Of course, a fixed spark system never permits of actual advance, and is used only where the greater efficiency and economy of the adjustable spark or automatic spark is not deemed necessary, or where the skill of the operator is not great enough to warrant the use of an adjustable spark. The terms non-adjustable and fixed as applied to spark systems should not be confused, the one is a negative form that embraces both fixed and automatic advance systems while the latter applies only to system wherein the timing is constant.

In order to get all the pleasure there is to be had from automobiling and also to save expense in the long run, the owner should find out the weight of his car, weights certain sized tires are able to carry, and then equip his car with the largest sized tires possible. The small added cost at the beginning will bring him interests in the form of utmost service mileage and entire satisfaction.

Farmers as Travelers.

The countryman of a generation ago was rarely a traveler. Many of our grandfathers, yes of our fathers, used to boast in their latter days of the number of years it was since they slept away from their own home.

A popular young people's story by a well known author makes the heroine, a young person of 16, tell with some pride of her extended journeyings, the farthest of which was to the shire town some 15 miles away. It is needless to say that this book referred to a period of 40 years ago.

Today, read the village items in almost any country newspaper. See what an incessant flitting there is, particularly among the women. Not many of them are registered at the hotels, but the good old country custom of cousinly visitations is kept up a good deal. There are sons and daughters in adjoining states, and the travel between Lonesomehurst and the boy's Harlem flat is a procession.

The farmer is not as much of a traveler as other men. But you would be surprised at the number of conservative, cautious Eastern farmers, who still use candles because they are cheaper than oil, but who every few years dig the savings bank book out of the little green box, and take a winter's trip to the South, or the West.

It is the townsman today that is the stay at home, more than the countryman. Many are the clerks, merchants, and mechanics in the drive of factory and department store life, who never get away save when Labor Day or some other festival so comes as to give them a double holiday.

The farmer really has more to learn than any other man by travel. Every corn field that he passes has something to tell him about his trade. Every herd of cattle suggests points for criticising his own methods.

In greater New York they are christening sewers with wine. Perhaps no one knew where any water could be obtained.

In a former age Turkey expected to "sweep the earth." It is another instance of an exaggerated ego.

You know that old stove eats up a lot of fuel each year.

You know you have trouble in getting it to bake just right, in fact, spoil a batch of bread every once in a while—you know it costs considerable for yearly repairs.

Stop and think and figure.

Wouldn't it pay you to buy a good range—a range with a reputation—

The Great Majestic and Malleable Charcoal Iron Range.

You make no mistake in buying the GREAT MAJESTIC—it's the range with THE REPUTATION—ask your neighbors. Then, too, it's made just right and of the right kind of material—MALLEABLE and CHARCOAL IRON—riveted together practically air tight—lined with pure asbestos board—parts being malleable can't break—has a moveable reservoir and an oven that don't warp—that's why the MAJESTIC uses so little fuel, bakes just right every day in the year (browns bread just right all over without turning,) heats 15 gal. water while breakfast is cooking—properly handled lasts a lifetime, costs practically nothing for repairs.

Don't buy the range you expect to last a lifetime "unsight unseen," you'll be sure to be disappointed. SALE TO BEGIN THANKSGIVING

Red Cross Christmas Stickers Will be Offered to Public First Time This Season.

SIMULTANEOUSLY OVER STATE

Agents Will Always Have Large Supply on Hands—Aim in Indiana is 2,000,000.

The sale of Red Cross Christmas Stickers is to begin simultaneously throughout Indiana on Thanksgiving Day. This is the announcement which comes from the state headquarters in Indianapolis and the work of distributing 4,000,000 seals to the several agents already begun. The mark aimed at this season is 2,000,000 seals, and it is the policy to place in agents' hands twice as many as will be sold so that there may at all times be a supply on hands.

The campaign is being conducted by the Christmas Stickers Commission of the Indiana Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. This commission is composed of Severance Burrages, James W. Lilly, Dr. Theodore Potter, Mrs. Lew W. Ellingham and Dr. Henry Moore. Headquarters have been opened in room 119, United States Postoffice Building in Indianapolis.

By a new arrangement, ninety per cent. of the total amount raised by the sale of seals in Indiana this season, will remain in the state as a war fund for carrying on a vigorous fight against tuberculosis. And it is the policy of the Indiana Association to leave as much of the money as possible in the communities where it is raised.

This is especially true in counties where there are regularly organized Associations for fighting tuberculosis. Such organizations are acting as county agents for the sale seals, having the exclusive right of selling seals in their own counties.

Indiana made the largest gain of any state in the sale of seals last season and the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, which is directing the national campaign, has set a high mark for Indiana to reach this year. It is believed that a number of communities will raise enough money by the sale of the seals to enable them to establish camps for the treatment of tuberculosis patients. Others will use the money for educational purposes.

The seals sell for one cent each, and although they are not good for postage, they carry cheery holiday messages when placed on the backs of envelopes or on packages.

SOME THINGS COST LESS NOW

For Instance There Are Apples and Cranberries For Thanksgiving That Are Cheaper.

UNION SERVICES TO BE HELD

Business Will be Suspended Generally in Observance of Holiday—a Football Game.

With Thanksgiving less than two weeks away, the housewives of Rushville are beginning to want to know what the dinner that is always made a feature of that holiday is going to cost.

It can safely be set down that the cost is not going to be much less, if any, than it was last year. To begin with, the turkey is going to come at about the same figure that he came at twelve months ago. Turkeys are retailing on the foot at fifteen cents a pound. Dressed turkeys range from five to seven cents higher. A dealer stated that dressed turkeys for Thanksgiving would range from twenty to twenty-five cents. He was of the opinion that the average price would be twenty-three cents.

Chickens, dressed, will be about the same as they were last year, and ducks and geese will hold to about the same figures they were quoted at in November, 1911. As these fowls are favored for Thanksgiving, and as nearly every family aims to have some of them, it will be judicious to begin on about the same outlay that was made last year.

There are two things that enter into the Thanksgiving dinner that are cheaper this year than they were last—apples and cranberries. Cranberries are plentiful and the best of them are selling for ten cents a quart. Excellent apples can be had for seventy-five cents a bushel. Sweet potatoes are fairly plentiful and not especially high. The price of Irish potatoes everybody knows, as the Murphys enter into the everyday living of nearly every family in the community. Celery is scarce. The early freeze in Michigan almost ruined the crop there. At present about the only first class celery, barring a limited Indiana product, is that which comes from California.

Oranges, California grapes and tropical fruit hold to the standard prices for the season. Nuts show a tendency to become higher. There has been a great increase in the production of nuts the last few years, but the increased production has not kept pace with the increased demand, hence the upward tendency of the nut market.

The indications are for fairly bountiful Thanksgiving spreads in Rushville homes. Business has been good throughout the year, and labor very generally is employed. This means that there is money in practically every home for the extras of the coming feast day. There are the needy poor that are always with us, of course, but they will be looked after by the charity organization which has made it a point for several years to see to it that they have a share in the day's cheer.

In the main, Thanksgiving will be given the same observance in Rushville that it has received for several years. Business will be suspended so far as store, factories, the building trades and common labor are concerned and the people generally will make of it a day of rest and reunions.

The usual Thanksgiving church services will be held. This year it will take place at the United Presbyterian church and the sermon will be delivered by the Rev. C. M. Yocum of the Main Street Christian church. Many cities are doing away with the Thanksgiving union service, but Rushville still retains this custom.

Those of Rushville who enjoy the premier fall sport, a game of football, will have the opportunity of seeing one here on the afternoon of Thanksgiving day when the local independent team will line up against the strong Maxwell-Briscoe team of Newcastle.

four. He was among admirers and friends and he made his entertainment very informal and home-like, allowing the guests to make suggestions as to what he should give.

Mr. Pugh read "The Light That Failed" from Kipling with such characteristic earnestness and pathos that there were few dry eyes in the room when he had finished. He sang "My Ain Folk," a Scotch ballad, and sang several other little Scotch airs. He gave several readings to which Rushville people are especially partial. He was very highly complimented by the applause given him.

The home of Mrs. Miller was very tastefully decorated with beautiful specimens of varied colored chrysanthemums. A very elaborate luncheon was served. Mrs. Richard Smith of Indianapolis, formerly Miss Mary Brann of this city, was one of the guests.

WANT ADS BRING RESULTS

Copyright, 1911, by Thomas Dixon

He went across the square to take a cab at the Brevoort. His mood was buoyant. He was looking out on life once more through rose tinted glasses. At Eighth street he met at right angles the swarming thousands hurrying across town from their work-heavy looking men who tramped with tired step, striking the pavements dully with their muffled shoes, tired, anxious women, frowzy headed little girls, sad eyed boys, half awake—all hurrying, the fear of want and the horror of charity in their silent faces. And yet the sight touched no responsive chord of sympathy in Stuart's heart as it often had. As he drove uptown the avenue flashed with swift, silent automobiles and blooded horses. These uptown crowds through whose rushing streams he passed were all well dressed and carried bundles of candy, flowers and toys.

Stuart felt the contagious enthusiasm of thousands of prosperous men and women whose lives at the moment flowed about and enveloped his own.

What was it that made the difference between the squalid atmosphere below Fourth street and the glowing, flashing, radiant, jeweled world up town? Money! It meant purple and fine linen, delicacies of food and drink, pulsing machines that could make a mile a minute, the mountain and the sea, freedom from care, fear, drudgery and slavery!

After all in this modern passion for money might there not be something deeper than mere greed, perhaps the regenerating power of the spirit pressing man upward? Certainly he could see only the bright side of it tonight.

As his cab swung into Riverside drive from Seventy-second street the sight which greeted him was one of startling splendor. Bivens' yacht lay at anchor in the river just in front of his house. She was festooned with electric lights from the water line to the top of her towering steel masts.

The illumination of the exterior of the Bivens house was remarkable. The stone and iron fence surrounding the block, which had been built at a cost of a hundred thousand dollars, was literally ablaze with lights. The house was illumined from its foundations to the top of each towering minaret with ruby colored lights.

Stuart passed up the grand stairs through a row of gorgeous stunkies and greeted his hostess.

Nan grasped his hand with a smile of joy.

"You are to lead me in to dinner, Jim, at the stroke of 8."

"I'll not forget," Stuart answered.

VERIFY IT

The Proof is in Rushville, Almost at Your Door.

The public statement of a Rushville citizen is in itself strong proof for Rushville people, but confirmation strengthens the evidence.

Here is a Rushville citizen who testified years ago that Doan's Kidney Pills relieved weak kidneys and now states the result was permanent. Can any sufferer from kidney ills ask better proof? You can investigate. The case is right at home.

George Priest, 223 West Third St., Rushville, Ind., says: "I use Doan's Kidney Pills whenever I feel in need of a kidney tonic and they always give highly satisfactory results. I gladly confirm what I said in their praise some years ago. For several years I had kidney trouble which came on by spells. The complaint started with a dull pain just over the kidneys then I became weak and dizzy. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally brought to my attention and were so highly recommended that I got a supply at Johnson & Co's. Drug Store. They proved to be the best medicine of the kind I had ever tried and in a short time restored my kidneys to a normal condition."

government had no guns for the volunteers. He learned that there were 5,000 old Hall carbines stored away among the junk in one of the national arsenals in New York. He bought these guns (on a credit) for a song, about $3 apiece, and shipped them to General Fremont, who was in St. Louis howling for arms. Fremont agreed to pay $22.50 each for the new rifles and closed the deal at once by drawing on the government for enough to enable the young buccannier to pay his three dollar contract price to Uncle Sam in New York and lay aside a snug sum for a rainy day besides.

"When Fremont found that the guns were worthless he advised the government to stop payment on the balance. It was stopped on the ground of fraud. And then the youngster showed the stuff he was made of. Did he crawl and apologize? Not much. He sued the United States government for the full amount and pushed that suit to the supreme court. In the face of the sneers of his enemies he won and took the full amount with interest. He's the king today because he was born a king. His father was a millionaire before him. He's the greatest financial genius of the century."

Bivens paused and a dreamy look came into the black eyes. "Jim," he continued with slow emphasis, "I'd rather get my fingers on his throat in a death struggle than lead the combined armies of the world to victory."

Stuart was silent. The soft tones of hidden oriental gongs began to chime the call for dinner. The chimes melted into a beautiful piece of orchestral music which seemed to steal from the sky, so skillfully had the musicians been concealed. Nan suddenly appeared by Stuart's side, and he was given the honor of leading his hostess into the banquet hall before even the king, while the great ones of earth slowly followed.

A local official, at a dinner in Philadelphia, praised the Quaker City ardently.

"I must even praise," he said with a smile, "our exclusiveness—we carry it so far, you know. Birth is not enough with us; residence is equally important, and they who live above Market street are doomed. Here, surely, is exclusiveness with a vengeance."

"They tell a story about a dinner in Rittenhouse square. At this dinner, as the fish course began, one woman whispered to another:

CHARLES H. HYDE

Former City Chamberlain of New York, Facing the Court.

A CITY BRIBERY CASE ATTRACTS ATTENTION

Former Chamberlain of New York On Trial.

New York, Nov. 21.—To try Charles M. Hyde, former city chamberlain, on a technical charge of demanding and receiving a bribe as a public official, it took just four hours and thirteen minutes actual time to secure a jury in the criminal branch of the supreme court. Hyde himself for the present will be allowed to remain out on bail.

The Zelig gunmen, Lefty Louie, Gyp the Blood, Whitey Lewis and Dago Frank were arraigned to hear a date set for the pronouncement of sentence for the murder of Herman Rosenthal. Justice Goff said he would sentence on Tuesday next. On that date prisoners' counsel will move that the verdict be set aside as against the "weight of evidence, because of errors of law during the trial." A notice of appeal in the case of former Lieutenant Becker, also convicted of the Rosenthal murder, which automatically stays his execution until acted upon by the court of appeals, has been filed by Becker's attorney.

Sam Schepps was liberated in the West Side court this forenoon, and some time this afternoon the rest of the informers in the Rosenthal murder case, Jack Rose, Bridgie Webber and Harry Vallon, will walk out of prison free to go where they wish.

Willie Shapiro, the chauffeur of the gray murder car whose case appeals more to those thoroughly familiar with the whole Rosenthal situation than that of any other associated with the murder, must wait until the district attorney has satisfied himself about some details in the indictment for murder which now holds Shapiro, before the prosecutor moves for the dismissal of the indictment. But the move for dismissal will come very soon and the chunky little chauffeur will then hurry off with his mother "as far away as anybody can get" and with his mother will live in this far away place, for the rest of his life.

PREMATURE

Cabinet Gossip Not Founded on Facts, Says Mr. Wilson.

Hamilton, Bermuda, Nov. 21.—Governor Sir George Bullock and wife visited President Elect Wilson at the Glen Cove cottage and spent half an hour chatting with him. Governor Wilson states that the report that Mr. Bryan practically has been selected for appointment as secretary of state is unfounded. He has made no offers of appointments to anyone yet. The governor added that announcements of cabinet selections would be made known only over his own name.

The Case Against Gibson.

Goshen, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Justice in Orange county is proving itself relentless in linking the chain of evidence against Burton W. Gibson, the lawyer accused of murdering his client, Mrs. Szabo, for her estate. The state's principal witnesses have made out the strongest possible case of circumstantial evidence against the accused.

Ettor Trial Nearing an End.

Salem, Mass., Nov. 21.—Closing arguments to the jury are being heard in the trial of Joseph J. Ettor of the Industrial Workers of the World; Arturo Giovannitti, an Italian Socialist writer, and Joseph Caruso, mill mill worker, charged with the murder of Anna Lopizzo during the textile strike at Lawrence last winter.

CARGOES WERE UNDERWEIGHED

Government's Contentment in Suit Against Spreckles.

A DEMAND MADE FOR $119,080

Alleging That Undervalued Duties in Above Sum Are Due From Federal Sugar Company, Suit Has Been Brought in Federal Court, Allegation Also Being Made That Gratuities Were Given Weighers.

New York, Nov. 21.—In connection with a suit brought by the government to recover $119,080.93 in duties, charges that gratuities which amount to bribes were paid by the Federal Sugar company, of which Claus Spreckles is president, to government weighers, have been made by the government attorney. The government claims that cargoes of sugar received at the sugar company's plant between 1902 and 1909 were so frequently underweighed that the above sum in duties is still owing. The summons and complaint were filed in the United States district court, and the papers were served upon Mr. Spreckles at his office.

W. Cleveland Runyon, special assistant to the attorney general, who has charge of the case, gave out this statement: "The present claim against the Federal company is the only sugar duties claim at this port that has not been settled. The American, Arbutts and the National have all settled. In view of the facts found by Collector Loeb and the department of justice and the Federal company's refusal to pay, a suit became inevitable."

Mr. Spreckles denied emphatically that the difference in weight had always been against the government. "So far as we are concerned," he said, "I wish to say just this, that we have done no wrong. We are an honest concern and not in the same catalogue with concerns that used spring scales.

Refused to Pay a Cent.

"When this matter came up and the government said that we owed $119,000 in duties because our sugar was underweighed, I declined to pay a single dollar. Some months afterward Mr. Runyon made a proposition to settle at $116,000 or approximately that sum. I again declared that I would not pay a dollar. Finally they came down to $106,000. Mind you this thing has been going on for years.

"Then just about a year ago they made me the proposition to settle for $91,000, and last month they came and said: 'Well, what will you pay, or will you pay anything?'

"I replied, 'You have had my answer for years. There's no compromise between right and wrong. We either owe you the entire sum you claim, or we don't owe you anything. I say we don't owe you anything.'

Referring to a report that criminal proceedings might be instituted, he said: "Any talk of criminal proceedings at this time can be nothing but an attempt to force us to pay a claim that we deny the justice of."

When Mr. Spreckles was asked about the "tips," he said that it was perfectly true that money had been paid to the government employees. It went to the inspectors rather than the weighers, he said. Mr. Spreckles declared that the "tips" were in no sense bribes, but just such a fee as a man gives his waiter in a restaurant to insure good service. They were known, he said, as "house money" and were paid by every concern that did business with the customs people before Collector Loeb put an end to the system and relieved the companies of an unjust burden.

Blames the Flagman.

Baton Rouge, Nov. 21.—The state railroad commission holds Mark Cunningham, a flagman, responsible for the wreck on the Yazoo & Mississippi valley railroad a week ago, in which fifteen persons were killed. The report says Cunningham failed to go back a sufficient distance to flag an approaching freight after the passenger train's locomotive had become disabled.

No Known Cause For Rash Act.

Linton, Ind., Nov. 21.—Thomas B. Smith, a farmer, committed suicide at his home, five miles southwest of this city by drinking carbolic acid. He was sixty-five years old and was the owner of a large farm. No cause is given for the act. He is survived by a widow and five children.

SEEKING A WAY TO END THE WAR

Armistice Negotiations Now Are In Progress.

MAY MEAN PERMANENT PEACE

Though Both Bulgarians and Turks Are Holding Their Positions at Tchataldja, Commanders Are Trying to Get Together on Some Plan Whereby They May Honorably Cease Shooting at Each Other.

London, Nov. 21.—Pending the outcome of an effort toward arranging an armistice, the Balkan hostilities have been suspended. The allies made the proposition for a conference between a representative of the allies and a representative of the Ottoman forces, and the Turkish government accepted the proposal. Nazim Pasha, the commander-in-chief of the Turkish forces in the field, was appointed to represent his government in the negotiations, and General Savoff, the commander of the Bulgarian armies and the man whose military genius is credited with the victories against the Turks, will represent the allies.

If the two commanders are able to reach an agreement in the matter of an armistice, an opportunity will be afforded for other representatives of all the governments immediately concerned to discuss the terms of a permanent peace. Meanwhile both Bulgarians and Turks hold their positions at Tchataldja.

Conflicting Reports.

Statements of the relations of Austria and Serbia are conflicting. A dispatch from Sofia says that the allies have definitely abandoned the idea of partitioning Albania and that they will assist in establishing Albanian autonomy. If this interpretation of the attitude of the allies is correct, particularly with regard to Serbia, Austria's main ground for contention will have been removed. Dispatches from Fiume, however, bring information of Austria's continued preparations for hostilities and thereby seem to indicate a lack of belief on the part of the Buda Pest government in the report that the allies are willing to forego the division of Albania.

According to dispatches from Sofia of later date than the Constantinople advices, all the Turkish reports of Ottoman victories at Tchataldja are officially declared to be untrue. Dispatches from Athens indicate that the temporary armistice at Tchataldja has not affected the Greek advance. Three Greek columns are, marching in the direction of Florina and are meeting with Turkish resistance. A dispatch from Belgrade contradicts the earlier report that a large number of Turks had been captured at Monastir. According to reports from Bulgarian sources, which state that Turkish troops attempting to break through the Bulgarian lines were driven back into the city with heavy losses.

MANY LIVES LOST

Death List in Jamaican Storm May Reach One Hundred.

Kingston, Jamaica, Nov. 21.—A storm at one end of the island and a tidal wave at the other end have caused the loss of probably 100 lives. Reports which are just filtering in from Montego bay state that that town was completely wrecked by a cyclone. So far over forty bodies have been taken from the sea and there are many more dead ashore. At Lucca, a small town of 2,000 inhabitants on the north-west coast, ten bodies have been washed up from the sea.

The town of Savanna La Mar, on the southwest coast, is reported to have been struck by a tidal wave. It is said that there has been enormous damage on that end of the island.

And Then Didn't Get the Rabbit.

Danville, Ind., Nov. 21.—Just after shooting a rabbit last Sunday, L. A. Smith was confronted by a game warden. Thinking the warden was alone Smith ordered him off with a flourish of his gun, but when the warden's partner appeared, submitted quietly to arrest. He was fined $39 for hunting on Sunday, $34 for hunting without a license and $10 for drawing a gun on the deputy. The rabbit Smith killed was left behind.

Caught on the Track.

Indianapolis, Nov. 21.—Joseph Sheets, sixty-eight years old, a veteran of the civil war, was instantly killed when he was struck by an inbound train on the Big Four line, at the junction of the Big Four and Belt tracks.

He Pleads Self-Defense.

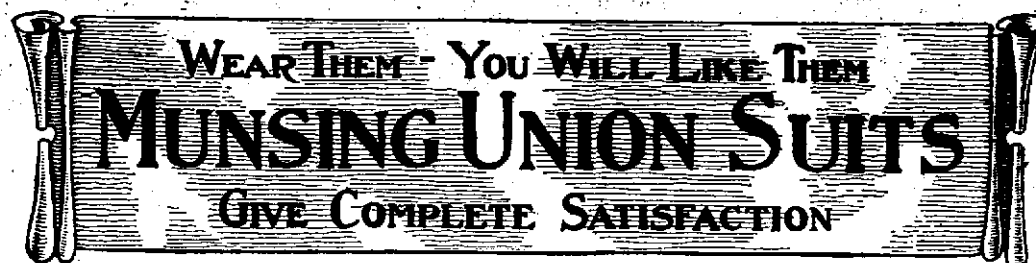

Richmond, Ind., Nov. 21.—Samuel Whalen, white, is on trial in the Wayne circuit court charged with the murder of Arthur Saunders, colored. Self-defense is his plea. Saunders was stabbed to death on the night of Sept. 7.

Carpenter Fell From Roof.

Kendallville, Ind., Nov. 21.—Alonso Latson, aged seventy, a carpenter, was killed by a fall from the roof of a barn.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bryan have gone to their winter home at Miami, Fla.

WINTER SIGNS CONTRADICTORY

Fur-Bearing Animals Have Heavy Coat But Corn Husks Are Very Light.

IT WILL OR IT WILL NOT

According to signs in the animal world, the present winter is to be an unusual cold one. The omens on which this prediction is placed are found in the condition of the coats of fur-bearing animals. While it is yet early in the season all indications point to a winter as severe as last year. The fur on the pelts is very thick and close knit such as nature always provides before going into a severe cold season.

In contrast to this prediction the farmers say that the corn husks are unusually light this year and that the huge ears are bursting; the husks and protruding therefrom for several inches. All this, they say, promises a very mild and open winter. So there you are, and you can take your choice. It is predicted, however, that it will be safe to keep coal in the bin.

The Doctrine of Good Shoes May Be Profitably Preached Only By a Good Shoe Man

Frankly, we'd hate to be in the "near shoe" business! We'd hate to carry lines of shoes that sell only because the price is small. Somehow, we feel that it would be about as creditable to circulate bad money as to sell bad shoes. Perhaps the selling of poor shoes will stop, sometime. It ought to stop.

GRAND JURY TO PROBE WRECK

Marion County Body Will Take up Investigation of C. H. & D. Collision Monday.

DEATH TOLL IS RAISED TO 16

Fred W. Hutcherson, Fireman on the Freight Engine Dies in Indianapolis—Was Scalded.

Prosecutor Frank Baker announced today that the Marion county grand jury would take up the investigation of the C. H. & D. wreck in Irvington, which was responsible for the death of sixteen persons, next Monday morning, according to the Indianapolis News. Coroner Durham has prepared a list of witnesses whom the grand jury will summon, including those who have testified before him, and others.

Fred W. Hutcherson, twenty-six years old, of Madison, Ky., freight engine fireman, seriously injured a week ago, in the C. H. & D. wreck in Indianapolis, died last night at the Deaconess hospital in Indianapolis.

Hutcherson's death brings the total number of victims to sixteen. Fifteen were either killed or died at the hospital the day of the wreck. Little hope was entertained by physicians at the hospital for Hutcherson's recovery. He was scalded about the face, arms and body.

A few minutes after the passenger train hit the freight train head-on, Hutcherson was found by other employees. He was standing in front of the engine boiler when the collision came. He was thrown between some wreckage, and before he could be taken out his face and arms were scalded by steam. He was carried to a nearby house, where he lay for some time before he was taken to the hospital.

DEEP THINKING ANYWAY.

Muncie Press: The Indianapolis News says that the election of 1912 will result in more plain living and higher thinking. If it is like the election of 1892, won on the same grounds, it will result in a lot of plain living and deep thinking anyway.

PREPARING FOR TURKEY DAY GAME

Locals Will Not Play Sunday But Will Practice For Maxwells of Newcastle.

CROWD OF ROOTERS COMING

Because the Independent foot ball team expects a hard game Thanksgiving with the Maxwell team and desires to be in the best of condition no game will be played Sunday. The team will however receive a stiff work out in preparation for the big game of the season. The Maxwell team is considered one of the best in the State and the locals know they will have a hard battle. The game will probably be witnessed by one of the largest crowds of the season as the fans are assured of a good game. The Maxwell team will be accompanied here by a large crowd of rooters.

The Rushville team has so far found little opposition but on paper the Maxwells appear to be their equal. The locals will be in their class Thanksgiving and will have to go the limit. For this reason Capt. Brann desires all the members to come out for practice Sunday.

LIBERTY TO MEET LOCALS

First Basket Ball Game of Season Friday Night.

The Independent basket ball team will play the fast Liberty team at the high school "gym" tomorrow night. The local team was recently organized for the season and is made up of some of the best material in this section of the state. The team has been practicing for several weeks and is going at a fast clip. Little is known as to the strength of the Liberty team but from past performances the local team will have to go the limit to win. The Independent team will take on all Independent teams in this section and some fast games are expected. The game tomorrow night will be called at 8 o'clock.

B. F. MILLER

was a criminal and a drunkard and that his wife was a fortune teller. They were persecuted in New York and fled to Ohio. Rigdon, Smith's right hand man, prophesied the coming of the Mormon prophet in Ohio, the pastor said, and lo, and behold, Smith did appear.

According to history, the Rev. Mr. Jamieson said, they were driven from Ohio, because of their teachings and their dishonesty in their dealings in operating a bank. They went to Missouri, were routed by Christian people and finally settled in Illinois where they remained a number of years before settling in Utah which they now completely dominate.

"There are three things which are characteristic of Mormons," continued the Rev. Mr. Jamieson. "They are dishonesty, immorality and thievery. It was because of their immorality that Joseph Smith had the divine revelation about polygamy."

The Rev. Mr. Jamieson told of his experiences with Mormons when he lived near a band in Colorado. He said they stole deliberately and intentionally any thing that they saw fit to take. They always bowed to the law, he said, but at the same time others were carrying on their nefarious work. Some of them might be sent to prison for theft, but others would continue to steal. They contended all things belonged to God, he said, and that they, his saints, had as much right to them as any one.

The Rev. Mr. Jamieson showed that they express faith in God but that further perusal of their catechism revealed that they have many Gods. They hold, he proved by reading from their writings, that Adam was sent to earth in a celestial body with one of his wives and that they are still begetting children. He pointed out that their faith taught they would all be Gods some day.

"They do not recognize the divinity of Christ and they disregard the atonement of Christ all together," said the pastor. "They say they believe the Bible and the book of Mormonism are both the works of God yet they declare that their revelations are above God's word. They pay no attention to the Bible except where they can use it to catch unsuspecting people."

"They say they believe in blood atonement; so do we. But do they teach it? The only way a Mormon can get back into the faith after he has once been unfaithful in the eyes of their priests, he must shed his own blood. He who apostatizes must spill his own blood. Fathers have been known to help assassinate their own sons because the latter wanted to escape Mormonism."

"They dominate Utah and they infest nearly every Western State. Their workers are not volunteers. They are appointed by the priests and they generally go into uncharted territory where they will have no opposition. They always call at a home if they travel as Jesus did without purse or means of living, yet the liveryman told me in my home in Colorado once, after two Mormons had been there, that they made expenses playing craps at night."

The Rev. Mr. Jamieson read a statement of Brigham Young in which he boldly bragged of the abilities of Mormons to cheat, gamble, steal and be immoral.

"I believe congress," he continued, "should pass a law which would compel decency in living among Mormons. A man with ten wives is honored, and the wife of a man who has only one is taken away from him and given to the one with ten. Their revelations teach them that the man is called from the grave on resurrection day and that he in turn calls his wife. This is held over the wife's head as a threat when she does not obey her husband."

The Rev. Mr. Jamieson told of the interdenominational organization of Gospel missions which is doing all in its power to combat Mormonism. The workers travel in wagons as Mormons do.

The closing service of the week will be held at the St. Paul M. E. church tonight and the sermon on the topic, "Country's Debt to Christ" will be delivered by the Rev. C. M. Yocum of the Christian church.

EVANGELIST AND SINGER PRAISED

Cambridge, Ohio, Newspaper Tells of Tabernacle Meeting Being Conducted by F. B. Stearns.

AUTOMOBILE TRIPS MADE

The daily Jeffersonian of Cambridge, Ohio gives a vivid account of the tabernacle meeting which is being conducted by Rev. F. B. Stearns of this city, at Senecaville, O., a town located near Cambridge. The article in the paper deals with one of the Rev. F. B. Stearns' best sermons, which is on the subject, "The Danger of Losing Christ."

The newspaper article praises R. N. Rowe, the evangelist singer who is with the local evangelist. It says: "Prof. Rowe is a young man of beautiful character and winsome ways. He is consecrated to his work, and his voice is laden with the pathos of love. The choir is developing under his guidance."

The Rev. Mr. Stearns is using much the same plan as that tried here. An automobile trip to surrounding villages and towns was taken to arouse people in the interest of the tabernacle meeting.

WHAT'S THE USE?
